Heppner banker honored

Gene O. Pierce was honored at the 81st anniversary convention of the Oregon Bankers Association held at Salishan Lodge, Gleneden Beach, June 18-20.

On behalf of all of Oregon banking, Oregon Governor Victor Atiyeh presented Gene Pierce, Heppner, with a service award honoring his fifty years of service to Oregon banking.

Pierce, who is president emeritus of the Bank of Eastern Oregon, began his banking career with First National Bank of Oregon in 1935. In 1955 he became manager of the Heppner office of the Gilliam County bank, which today is the Bank of Eastern Oregon.

In making the award, Governor Atiyeh said, "Gene Pierce's half century of dedicated service to Oregon banking and to the state of Oregon is exemplary."

Gene Pierce has served the banking industry in many capacities... most recently as a member of the Board of Directors of the Northwest Intermediate Banking School, and as President and Chairman of the board of the state Chartered Banks of Oregon.

Sports Opinion

The Sixth Man

By Ashley Conklin

The 100th championships at Wimbledon are over now and once again many surprises occurred, but once again many things stayed the same.

For the fifth year in a row, and seventh overall, Martina Navratilova won the women's singles crown. Probably the biggest surprise was her opponent in the finals, Hana Mandlikova instead of Chris Evert Lloyd.

However much we like Evert Lloyd and Navratilova, it was nice to see Mandlikova make it to the finals. With Mandlikova playing on center court for the championship we saw what women's tennis will be like when Navratilova and Evert Lloyd give up the game, if they ever do.

Eighteen-year-old West German star Boris Becker won his second straight Wimbledon crown. In spite of fourth seeded, Becker had no problem disposing of Frenchman Henri Leconte (the number seven seed) in the semifinal and Czech Ivan Lendl (the number one seed) in the finals.

Becker later said that he thought Lendl was the top player in the world, but he was a top player too.

It should all be interesting at the U.S. Open in September when John McEnroe will be around to challenge Becker, Lendl, and the rest.

One of the most disappointing events at Wimbledon was the early departure of number three seed American Jimmy Connors. Connors, 33, lost in the first round for the first time in 15 trips there. Maybe Jimbo is too old.

Connors was a big disappointment at Wimbledon, but so was the Swedish contingent.

Number two seed Mats Wilander and three other top 10 Swede seeds Anders, Jarryd, Joakim, Nystrom, and Stefan Edberg all bowed out before the fourth round. The furthest advancement by a Swede was by Michael Pernifors (13th seed and French open finalist) who went as far as round four.

The biggest question is that Swedish tennis players are supposed to dominate. If we want a dominant Swede to rule the world maybe we should bring Bjorn Borg back.

A few other notes around the sports world: Atlanta's Bob Horner became only the 11th player in major league history on Sunday to hit four home runs in a game. But the Braves lost 11-8 to the Montreal Expos. If Horner had pitched the Braves, might have won, maybe.

Ted Turner's olympics, aka the Goodwill Games have started in Moscow and appear to be a hit. But with 11 boxers banned by the Pentagon for military reasons it appears that no international sports competition can completely operate with politics aside.

The National Football League Commissioner announced a plan for random drug testing in his league. Many players criticize Rozelle's actions, saying that random drug testing is an invasion of their privacy.

Sorry guys, but maybe Mr. Rozelle actually cares about what happens in his league and doesn't want anymore Len Bias' or Don Rogers'.

Wins vocational ag teacher award

Roger Records

Roger Records, vocational agriculture instructor at Heppner High School was selected the Outstanding Young National Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association member for Oregon at the recent vocational agriculture teacher's conference held in Tillamook.

There are approximately 95 NVATA members in Oregon.

Records will represent Oregon at the regional level later this summer.

The award is sponsored by John Deere and is based on the teacher's involvement in professional teaching organizations, innovative instructional methods and techniques, and involvement in local and agricultural groups.

Rea named yard of month

The Ione Garden club picked Norma Rea's yard as yard of the month for June. The newly cut lawn is bordered along the front by blue delphiniums and white shasta daisies on one side of the front gate, and petunias on the other side.

Pansies border one side of the front of the house with geraniums bordering the other side. Two wooden buckets filled with more colorful geraniums sit on each side of the front doors.

The east side of the house, and lawn is bordered by an apricot and an apple tree with chrisanthemums, blue bells, columbine and geraniums, growing under the trees. Large peonies, iris and lillies grow farther along the board fence.

Along the back of the house and yard gladiola and dahla's are neatly staked in rows ready to bloom.

Chamber honors Teddy Bear Workshop

The Heppner Chamber of Commerce has honored Teddy Bears Workshop with the "We're Proud of You" sign calling attention to businesses which have made an extra effort to improve their services.
