Prepares 4-H'ers for fair

4-H'ers learn to judge, fit, and show their sheep.

Judging animals as well as hands-on experience in fitting and showing sheep under the expert eye of an experienced judge prepared over 50 4-H'ers, parents, and leaders for events at county fair.

Site of the special training was the Kenn Evans farm in Irrigon. Judge and instructor for the day was Frank Ellis, Dayton, a registered Suffolk breeder and state fair judge.

The day's activities also included "how to" information for all livestock members on the final events of showmanship, and the "Round Robin" showmanship contest.

FFA members exhibit projects

The members of the Heppner FFA would like to invite everyone to visit them at the 1986 Morrow County Fair.

FFA members have been involved in several livestock, soil and crop judging contests throughout the year, and now they are gearing up for the Morrow County Fair. The fair is the show case of FFA members' projects and a chance for them to show the skills that they have learned through the Vo-Ag program.

The members of the Heppner FFA Chapter hope to see you at the fair.

Don't forget Aug. 10 4-H Horse Show

The Morrow County 4-H Horse Show will be held Sunday, August 10, at 9 a.m. at the Fairgrounds in Heppner.

Plan to come see the best youth riders in Morrow County compete in equitation, showmanship, jumping, trail, said a horse show spokesperson.
