Crank Phone Calls
 Most crank callers only want to annoy you. Some want to frighten their victim. The worst is the obscene call. Remember, the remedy for all kinds of crank calls is the same--Hang Up! You can't be annoyed or frightened if you won't listen. If crank calls persist, call your telephone operator or the Heppner Police Dept.

Mr. and Mrs. Darrel Harris have recently returned from Expo '86. They spent three days there and at the Oregon Pavilion they met a young man who turned out to be the son of Rev. Don Johnson, former Christian Minister here. They found the displays to be most interesting and had a very enjoyable trip.

On Saturday, July 27, the Craber family held a reunion at the Sorosis Park at The Dalles. Pete and Laurel Cannon from Ione; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Craber, Heppner; Darrel and Creth Harris, Heppner; Dallas and Delsey Craber, The Dalles; and Harold and Mildred Craber, The Dalles, were among those attending from this area. On Sunday the Craber "girls" hosted a brunch for those who had stayed over. Leona Cannon helped with this. Much visiting was enjoyed and everyone is looking forward to the next get together.

Mrs. Sara Adkins had her oldest brother's son, Leroy Canoy, and his wife, Teresa, as guests this week. They make their home at Whittier, California, are retired, and spend their winters in Yuma, Arizona, and summers traveling. They were going on to Walla Walla from here. Mrs. Adkins' son, Earl Crismon, and his wife, also visited this week. He is quite well again after undergoing surgery recently.

Mr. Clayton Slyter, son-in-law of Marguerite and Ambrose Chapin, and his son, Mike Slyter, are spending a few days with the Chapins.

Rachel and Ed Dick have received work that their son, Ladd E. Dick, has made the rank of Chief Petty Officer. He is stationed on Whidby Island. Ladd graduated from Heppner High with the class of '62.

Mrs. Justine Weatherford and Mrs. Ida Farra drove to Portland on business recently. While there they visited an antique show at the Coliseum. They returned to The Dalles where they spent the night. The next day they toured the Fort Dalles Museum and in visiting with the Curator, found that she had visited our museum here and had high praise for the displays. They visited numerous yard sales and attended the 50th wedding luncheon and reception for Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hoffman at the First Christian Church at The Dalles. The guests attending made it a Farra family reunion. At Arlington, Justine and Ida visited the Marion Weatherfords. While they were gone they checked on Ola Ruggles, but were unable to find where she is making her home.

Mrs. Blaine Isom and Harriet spent a day last week with Claude and Happy Graham.

Mrs. Hazel Mahoney and her daughter, Mrs. Shannon Smith, are going to Sun Valley, Idaho, this weekend where Trisha Mahoney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mahoney, is participating in the contest to determine who will represent Idaho in the Miss U.S.A. contest.

Andrea Reed, granddaughter of Carl and Sylvia McDaniel, has been visiting here. Mr. and Mrs. McDaniel and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Jones went to Portland to meet her. On Wednesday they all went to Grants Pass via Klamath Falls. They drove on down to Crescent City, California and came up the coast highway. They stopped at one of the redwood parks, which was a first for most of them, certainly a sight worth seeing. They continued up the coast to Florence where they went inland to the McKenzie River Pass, through Sisters and on home. Carl's birthday was celebrated on Wednesday with Sylvia's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. James Smith, her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Jones, Elsa Leathers, Opal Cook, and Grace Buschke as guests. The Jones left for home of Friday and Andrea has gone to San Francisco to visit her other grandmother. The McDaniels are expecting their daughter, Georgina, home on this Wednesday and their older daughter, Carolyn and her husband, John August 28.

Mrs. Bernice Nash is home after having eye surgery in Pendleton. She is "take it easy" for several weeks, but is doing well.
