--Don't forget the Rebekah Card Party on Saturday evening at 8 p.m.

--Lexington Garden club will sponsor an outdoor Christmas decoration contest. A $15 prize will be awarded the best lighted and best unlighted display in Lexington. Judging will be December 20.

Chamber Chatter

by Claudia Hughes
Chamber Manager

Remember when we were young? Time seemed to stand still while we waited for special events to occur or to get older. Now our calendar pages seem to flip by almost as fast as the minute hand on a clock. Guess that's what keeping busy does for a person.

Chamber has a full schedule this month. December 9, Hank Dennis will be doing the program on the new Tax Reform Law.

Elementary school students will get us in the Christmas spirit with carols on December 16. Following their performance, BMCC will show the video, "Ken Blanchard's The One Minute Manager." This video has created a revolution in management theory on motivating employees.

December 23, Fred Lundin, OSU Extension Service, will report on the Morrow County Agriculture Survey conducted by OSU last year. Chamber supported the county survey.

December 30 is the fifth Tuesday, meaning no Chamber. Looking ahead, be sure to mark your calendars for Chamber of Commerce Banquet, Tuesday, January 13, 1987.

Thought for the Week: "We write our own destiny...we become what we do." Each time we speak, vote, take a stand, express an attitude, we are writing Heppner's destiny, as well as our own.

First Christian pastor called to valley

Don Shelton, minister of the First Christian Church, has accepted the position of minister with the Delight Valley Church of Christ. Delight Valley is very near Cottage Grove in the Willamette Valley.

The Sheltons are concluding a six year ministry in Heppner. The family will be moving shortly after Christmas.

Residential lighting displays judged Dec 21

The Heppner-Morrow County Chamber of Commerce is again sponsoring an Indoor-Outdoor Christmas Lighting Contest in Heppner this year, a chamber spokesperson has announced. The judging committee will be circulating around town Sunday, Dec. 21 to select the winning displays.

Prizes will be awarded for first, second and third places in each of the two categories in the form of gift certificates. The certificates, $50, $25, and $10 will be redeemable at chamber members' businesses.

Winners of the contest are to be notified the week of December 22. A new addition to this year's contest will be the rural display award, to be given to the best Christmas display on a farm. Contestants for the rural display will be judged on recommendation only. Recommendations may be made to lighting contest Chairman David Sykes at the Heppner Gazette-Times, 676-9228.

Around About

By Justine Weatherford

It is good to read and hear that the remodeling of the Heppner Hotel into senior citizen apartments and an area senior center seems set to begin. It was most disappointing to have the Boardman-Hermiston area rated as second choice for the contemplated construction of a superconducting supercollider. Again the "less remote" Willamette area got the top recommendation inspite of the work done by the Matt Doherty led Eastern Oregon task force.

Now we've come into the month to be jolly and to also continue our appreciation and thankfulness for the great world we've been given and for the friends and families which mean so much to each of us. Almost every church, lodge and social organization is in gear to have a Christmas party. The usual delightful annual programs will take place in our schools.

With the successful Ag. Day meetings, workshops and banquet successfully passed, the 15th annual Artfactory's time has come. Fifteen years ago when members of a small, new branch of AAUW here began a pre-Christmas sale of used books and a few homemade gifts, they never realized how their efforts could blossom. The addition of the garden club's Greens Workshop and the great display and sale of art works by the so-talented artists of this county have helped to give more interest and excitement to the Artfactory. See you there this Saturday at the county fairgrounds.

Christmas tree lighting set Friday

Heppner's official tree lighting ceremony will be held this Friday, Dec. 5, 5 p.m. downtown Heppner.

During the ceremony the Heppner High School brass choir will perform, and the Soroptimist will serve hot cider. Everyone is welcome to attend.
