

Boardman elementary to get full-service kitchen

Sam Boardman Elementary School will have a full-service kitchen next fall the school board said at its February 17 meeting.

Currently food for both Sam Boardman Elementary School and Riverside High School is prepared at the high school and transported to the elementary school where it is kept warm and served. Growing numbers of students at both schools are making the system more difficult to manage, school superintendent Doyle McCaslin said.

The board approved a proposal to properly equip the kitchen at Sam Boardman so that each school will have a full service kitchen. The reserve in the food service fund and expected additional revenues from raising the price of school lunches 10¢ for students and 25¢ for adults will pay for the necessary equipment.

The lunch price increase will take effect in the fall when school resumes. "We have two intentions," the superintendent said, "1) to continue increasing the price of lunches annually at these rates until the price we are charging approaches the price of preparing lunches, 2) to generate approximately $20,000 additional revenue." That figure is an estimate, he said, because when the price of lunches is raised, even just a little, some participation drops off. Our best estimate of the cost to prepare a meal is $1.63. Because the program is heavily reimbursed and because we receive government commodities, we cannot charge the students full price, he said.

The school board also heard a proposal to allow students to wear shorts and sundresses to school during the warm months, May, June, and September. "Immodest clothing that is in bad taste will not be acceptable," the superintendent emphasized. "Shorts and sundresses must be at least mid-thigh length."

The change was proposed by a committee appointed to review the dress code. The proposal rests for a month, the superintendent said. Written copies are available for people to read. If anyone wants to speak to the board about the changes, they may do so before the next meeting. If there is no contest to the proposal at the next meeting, the board may reject or adopt all or any part of the proposal, he said.

In other business, the board: -read a letter from Ed Glenn praising the extra effort put forth by Riverside Science teacher Tim McCreary.

-appointed a committee of Dwayne Carroll, Bill Doherty, and Jerry McElligott to meet with principals about salaries.

-appointed a committee of Randy Hughes, Mary Lou Carlson, and Bob Mahoney, to screen architects' proposals.

-examined two options for the 1987-88 school calendar.

-hired Helen Symonow as the new media specialist at Riverside High School for the remainder of the school year.

-hired Elaine Vandecar as half-time P.E. aide at Columbia Junior High School.

-hired Barbara Davis as two-hour night custodian at Columbia Junior High.

-hired John Edmundson as head golf coach for this spring at Heppner High School.

-approved the retirement of Edie Munkers from her position as purchasing clerk for the district, effective February 27.

-heard that the district will receive 58 new migrant students in the Boardman area March 20.

-heard a report on a burglary and break in at Riverside High School.

-heard that a voter communications workshop will be held on March 9 in Heppner and March 10 in Irrigon.

-held an executive session on personnel matters.

-approved the dismissal of a classified employee.

OSU hosts science and humanities symposium

The 18th annual Oregon Junior Science and Humanities Symposium, a conference for the state's top high school students in these fields, will be March 5-7 at Oregon State University.

About 150 students and 50 teachers from high schools across the state will be chosen to participate in this year's symposium, which has the theme "Controversy: Catalyst for Change." Keynote addresses will be given by selected Oregon State University professors and guest speakers. Group discussions will be conducted and some students will present research papers.

Attending from Ione High School will be Darrel Wilson, teacher; Kierin Doherty, Richard McElligott and Christopher Rea.

The event will be at the LaSelle Stewart Center on the OSU Campus, and is directed by Thomas Evans, chairman of the department of science, mathematics and computer science education.

Rolling Hills walk/run set

The Rolling Hills Walk/Run has been set for 9 a.m. Saturday, June 13. This year's 5k and 10k walk/run is sponsored by the Heppner EMTs with the help of Heppner volunteer firefighters. A breakfast has been added to this year's event.

All proceeds will go toward the purchase of a life pack 5 portable monitor defibrillator.

Registration forms are available at Pioneer Memorial Hospital, the Heppner Gazette-Times, and by writing Rolling Hills Run, P.O. Box 467, Heppner, Oregon 97836.

Pre-registration, before May 16, is $10 each, including T-shirt and breakfast, for the first two family members, $6 for each additional family member. Registration fee, without a T-shirt is $6 each for the first two family members, including breakfast, $5 for each additional family member.

Non-runners, ages 12 and over, who wish may eat breakfast for $2, ages 5-12 for $1, and those under five years old accompanied by a parent may eat free of charge.

4-H Center near Salem, reports Bill Broderick, Oregon State University Extension agent in Morrow County.

The event, set for April 24-26, is open to all 4-H leaders, members and their families who are interested in photography. The $40 fee includes materials and supplies as well as room and board.

During the weekend, those attending will have an opportunity to practice their photographic skills and darkroom techniques and learn more about close-up, night, travel, landscape and bad weather photography, adds Lyla Houglum, OSU Extension 4-H youth specialist.

A special feature will be a "scavenger hunt" for photo opportunities around the 4-H Center.

Volunteers assisting with the photo weekend all have extensive photographic experience, Houglum notes, and many are professional photographers. Instructors will include Jim Mischel, Amity; Bob Clark, LaPine; Dale Bateman, Tom Bateman, Scott Webb, Ken Graves, Ken Howe, and John Lingerfelt, Salem; and Glenn Barber, Tillamook.

More information about the 4-H Family Photography Weekend is available from the Morrow County Extension office in Heppner, telephone 676-9642.

More women with families working

Sixty-one percent of women maintaining families in 1985 were in the labor force—that is, working or looking for work—compared with 54 percent in 1975, according to a fact sheet on working women published by the Women's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor.

Identify Plant Problem Before Choosing Control Chemical

Fungicide, herbicide, insecticide, what's the difference?

Quite a bit. There are important differences in garden and landscape chemicals that homeowners often don't bother to make themselves fully aware of.

Early in the year is the time to spray fruit trees for control of fungus diseases. Do yourself a favor and be specific in choosing the chemical you plan to spray on your trees.

Too often homeowners spray home landscape trees without really knowing the specific problem they seek to eliminate. For example, chemical control of apple scab calls for application of a fungicide, not an insecticide.

Ask yourself the reason why you are using a particular chemical. Is the problem a plant disease, insect pests, or weeds? If it's a plant disease use a fungicide. If it's an insect, use an insecticide, and for weeds, use herbicides. You may even use all three during the growing season, but probably not all at the same time.
