

Pat McMinn wins contest

Pat McMinn, Heppner, is this week's winner of the "Re-Discover Your Hometown" contest. She won $100 in gift certificates.

To enter this week's contest look for contest rules in this week's newspaper. Drop the entry blank at one of the following businesses: Bank of E.O., Lois Beauty Shop, Cal's Restaurant.

Benj Franklin manager elected

Linda Gehrke has been elected an assistant vice president of The Benj. Franklin Federal Savings and Loan Association, according to Dale Weight, chairman of the board and chief executive officer.

Gehrke is the manager of the Benj. Franklin's Heppner office. She joined the association upon the 1985 merger with Western Heritage Federal Savings and Loan where she served as assistant operation supervisor and vault teller.

A graduate of Blue Mountain Community College and Eastern Oregon State College, she has also completed supplemental coursework with the Institute of Financial Education.

Gehrke is secretary/treasurer of the Heppner Chamber of Commerce, committee member of the Pendleton Free Methodist Church and a volunteer with the Willow Creek Park District Board.

The Benj. Franklin is the largest savings and loan association headquartered in Oregon with 84 offices in Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Utah. The Heppner office is located at 274 N. Main.

Pre-school visits the farm

The Heppner pre-school class visited the Al Osmin and Don Bennett farms last Thursday. The kids had a chance to pet and touch farm animals. Heppner pre-school is taught by Georgia Van Winkle.

Board member resigns

Statutes does not prohibit disclosure of executive session discussion by public agencies to the media but gives a public body the discretion not to disclose information presented and discussed in an executive session on certain matters. However, any final decision or any final action taken is required to be done in open session.

Rowe said in the letter dated February 25 that he resented Eppenbach's statement to the media and asked that his resignation be accepted immediately.

Rowe was appointed to the medical board five months ago by the Morrow County Court.
