Chamber Chatter

By Claudia Hughes
 "A ship is safe in the harbour, but that isn't what ships are made for." This was the message my daughter left when she flew off to Washington D.C. last week. How true, whether it's a trip across the U.S. or just a matter of leaving our easy chair and TV set to participate in something new or volunteer a few hours of our time. One small change and the voyage away from boredom begins, the voyage to a better community, or relationship. Being dry docked is great once-in-awhile but not continuously.
 No Chamber on March 31, the fifth Tuesday, but don't forget to vote. When you go to the polls, ask yourself how each issue will help your community set sail into all kinds of possibilities.
 April 7 is a Chamber Business Meeting. Three months into 1987 and it's time to evaluate our goals to see if we're heading in the right direction. It's your Chamber. Be there to give your opinion on programs, activities, etc. Member input as well as re-evaluation is the key to success in any organization.
 April 14 Chamber Program will be a cottage industry success story. Anyone interested in a successful business at home is invited to attend. More in next week's Chamber Chatter.

Chief Rathbun's Tips

If you are attacked:
 1. Break loose the very first thing, and get away.
 2. If not successful, talk furiously.
 3. Say you are very ill, tell him you just got out of the hospital.
 4. Tell him you feel you are going to vomit.
 5. Shout, scream, bite, scratch, kick, strike him with a purse or flashlight, cry or go into hysterics.
