The Juror's Creed

I will not allow myself to be a juror unless I am certain that I can protect the rights of the innocent as well as proclaim the guilt of the criminal.
I will remember that when I take my oath I become a judge and the judge becomes a referee.
I will honor my obligation to be a judge and to judge both the law and the facts as is my right and duty.
I will not allow the referee, the prosecutor or the other jurors to talk me out of doing what I know to be right.
I will be always mindful that the accused is innocent until I vote otherwise.
I will claim my right to interrogate the witnesses to eliminate doubt because I will not vote against the accused if I have any doubt.
If I become aware that the Constitutional or other rights of the accused are not being honored I will automatically vote in favor of the accused, unless I am completely satisfied that harm has truly been done to others by the accused.
I will vote in favor of any defendant who is prevented from presenting to me all of the evidence and testimony he relies on.
I will vote in favor of any defendant who is prevented from telling me why he believes I should find him not guilty.
I will vote in favor of any defendant who has not hurt others.
I will vote in favor of any defendant who has not been a clear threat to the lives, liberty, physical safety or property of others.
I will cast only one (secret) vote.
I will not break the law by deliberating in secret.
May I never be an instrument of harm to anyone who does no harm.
