The beauty of the ever popular Jeweler's Regulator Clock is now available at a size that makes it a more versatile home accent. It features the same detailing as the original model such as a solid oak cabinet, dentil molding beneath the flat top pediment, and a step molded base. The triangular shaped oak overlays draw attention to the cream colored Arabic numeral dial with its solid brass Bezel, brass grommeted winding arbor holes, and black serpentine hands. The look of the brass lyre pendulum and beat plate and the sound of Westminster chimes from the resonating verticle chime rods and side hammer 8-day key-wound movement, make this clock even more authentic.

If you need a trivet for a hot pot, wrap some foil around several thicknesses of newspaper.

If you have noticed that your tomatoes are wilting, no matter how much water you apply, it's possible they have one of three common wilt diseases.

Root-knot nematodes are found nearly everywhere. They are small (microscopic) round worms which attack the root. Infected plants are stunted and produced little or no fruit, and wilt in warm weather. The roots develop conspicuous knots or galls.

Either fusarium or verticillium fungi can cause wilt. The lower leaves yellow, wilt, and die as the disease moves upward in the plant. Plants are seldom completely killed by either fungus, but growth is retarded and yields are low.

To control any of these wilts, plant resistant varieties. No other control is available. Below are some varieties and their resistance:
