

Assumes news Editor duties

Diana Ball, 41, Heppner, has assumed the duties of news editor at the Heppner Gazette-Times.

She and her husband Archie have lived most of their lives in the Heppner area. They have two children, Andrea who attends Mt. Hood Community College in Gresham, and Duane, a senior at Heppner High School.

She will continue to drive her school bus route and work as Administrative Assistant for the Juvenile Services Commission. Ball will also remain active in the community as a member of Heppner Booster Club and the St. Patrick's Day Celebration committee.

She encourages everyone to continue coming into the office with news items.

4-H clubs get back into action

This is the time of year most 4-H clubs get back into action, said Extension Agent Bill Broderick. If your club meets year round you should contact your leader and find out when the next meeting is. It is the responsibility of the 4-H'er to know when the meetings are. It also helps the leaders to know you are interested and will be at the next meeting. We are very fortunate to have great leaders in Morrow County and should do all we can to help them, he said.

Childers takes over as owner-manager

Bobbi Childers is the new owner/manager of Beecher's Fine Foods in Ione. She has lived in Ione for eight years, but lived in the Big ButterCreek area before that. She is a graduate of Heppner High School.

She and her husband Harvey have two children, Maci, 7, and Kacy, 5.

The restaurant will continue to be open Tuesday through Sunday, she said. In addition to the regular menu, she will be adding no-salt meals, meals requiring "light beef", and menus for people who require special diets, she said.

Chamber hosts lottery speaker

Bill Erickson, Eastern Regional Sales Manager of the Oregon Lottery, and Richard Ross, Senior Communications Consultant with Pihas, Schmidt, Westerdahl Company, Portland, will address Heppner Chamber of Commerce Tuesday, October 27, 12 noon, Heppner Elks Lodge.

Erickson was District Sales Manager for Kawasaki Motor Corporation U.S.A. and for Beaver

Coaches, as well as Western Regional Sales Manager for Yamaha Motor Corporation, before becoming Regional Sales Manager of the Oregon Lottery.

Ross spent 34 years at the Television News Anchor Desk. He first managed the news room at KGW-TV and for 30 years delivered news to Oregon and Southwest Washington TV audiences, first at Channel 8, and for the past 11 years at Channel 2-KATU. Before his retirement from broadcasting last July, Graphic Arts Center Publishing Company commissioned Richard to write the text and captions for Ray Atkeson's newest scenic coffee table book...Oregon Three.

Ione player of the week named

By Sean Warren

The Ione Player of the Week of October 12 to October 18 is senior fullback Ken Snider.

Snider was the leading tackler for the Cards who defeated Dufur 46-14, Saturday at Dufur.

Offensively Snider was the reason for several scoring drives with excellent blocking. Snider also carried out perfect fakes baffling the Dufur backfield.

Extension groups start programs

Extension Agent Bill Broderick announced that two 4-H clubs are about to start; they are cake decorating and snowmobiling.

The cake decorating will be taught by Jan Coe. This club will be in the Heppner area. Broderick said, "Anyone interested in the cake decorating club should contact Jan Coe. I'm planning on volunteering my time to eat the cakes."

The snowmobile club leader will be Dana Heideman from Ione. If there is room in the club Dana will take members from both Ione and Heppner. This club could be a great family outing club. This club will also take some help from parents hauling snowmobiles to the mountains. It should be a good chance to teach 4-H'ers safety and care of their snowmobiles.

Merchants offer prizes for pumpkin contest winners

Turning a pumpkin into a work of art could pay off not only in satisfaction for your child, but also in the prize money he or she might win in the Heppner Merchant's Pumpkin Carving contest.

First prize for the best carved pumpkin in three different age groups will be $10. Second prize will be $5, and all the pumpkins will be on display downtown.

Age groups are: pre-school through kindergarten; grade one through four; and grade five and up.

All you need to do to enter your child's pumpkin is pick up an entry blank at Gardner's Men's Wear, carve the pumpkin and bring it back to Gardner's on Wednesday, October 28.

The pumpkins will be judged and put on display during the Moonlight Sale Thursday night, October 29.

Will sell crop insurance

Clint Carlson, 27, Ione, will be working as an independent agent with Wheatland Insurance, Jim Swanson had announced. Carlson has been a licensed agent since May of this year. He specializes in crop insurance and will be working in the Morrow and Gilliam county areas.

A lifetime resident of the area, Carlson and his wife Sarah live on the family ranch south of Ione. She teaches at Heppner Elementary School.

He attended Oregon School of Insurance to become a licensed agent. He also has a Bachelor of Science degree in general agriculture from Oregon State University.

To contact Carlson, call Wheatland Insurance, 422-7410 or his home, 422-7245.

Players of the week

By Casey Pedro

Heppner Mustang outstanding offensive and defensive players of the week Scott Davis and Terry Gray.

Scott Davis, offensive lineman, was selected offensive player of the week for his blocking on the left-side that allowed Heppner backs to rush for 88 yards against Umatilla. "Scott has been doing a good job all year," said coach Tim Birkby.

Defensive lineman Terry Gray had 13 defensive points and was second on team tackles. "Terry has been doing an outstanding job all year at Defensive Tackle. Terry uses his quickness well which makes him hard to block," Birkby said.

CattleWomen's Corner

By Marlene Currin

The Morrow County CattleWomen plan to give a special class on Wednesday, October 28 from 7-9 p.m. at the Fairgrounds Annex Building.

Susan Evans, Oregon CattleWomen President and Marlene Currin will demonstrate "Microwaving Beef". The Oregon Beef Council have developed some new recipes for cooking beef in the microwave. These recipes were learned and demonstrated at the Portland Beef Blitz, October 5 & 6.

"Samples will be given away at the class and everyone should be able to gain some insight to their microwave and cooking beef," states Marlene Currin. "The flavor is terrific and I've certainly found an easy way to prepare three new dishes for my family."

The duo plan to prepare Tenderloin Steak, a 2 lb. Rump Roast, and Hot Taco Dip.

Oregon Cattlewomen will sponsor the 1989 National Beef Cook-Off in Oregon and are gearing up for that event. Each County Cattlewomen's organization has been asked to introduce Tupperware products to their community, which allows them to contribute to the Cook-Off funding. The new Tupperware catalogs will be available at the class and door prizes will be offered to those who attend. Plan to drop by on October 28 and see what is new in the beef industry.
