The Ione girls hosted the Culver girls in a strong league rivalry Saturday. The game was full of excitement for Ione who had third place in their league on the line.

Culver team had an edge with experience as four out of their five starters were returning seniors. Another factor in the game was the height difference. Culver averages 5'9" to Ione who averages 5'4". Ione started the game slowly scoring only 4 points. Culver played an aggressive defense that seemed to pay off in the first quarter. Ione stormed back in the second quarter with their highest output of the year in one quarter which was 20 points.

The Cards got their running game in gear and gave Culver fits in the exciting second quarter. The score at the half was Culver 26-24.

The second half proved to be a poor one for the Cards as they were outscored 36-14. All-star center Diana Ohlde scored 30 points to lead the Bulldogs to victory. Junior Michelle Papineau scored 12 points to lead the Cards with sophomore Amy Wagenblast chipping in 11 points for the young Cardinal team. The final score was Culver 62 Ione 38.

Ione: Nelson 3 0-1 6, Wagenblast 3 5-9 11, Papineau 4 0-1 12, Martin 2 0-0 4, Padberg 0 0-1 0, Doherty 1 0-0 2, Perez 0 1-2 1. Totals 16 6-14 38.

Carpenter opposes Timms in election for Senator

Bob Carpenter

Bob Carpenter, Harney County rancher and trucking contractor announced today that he has filed for the Republican nomination for Oregon state senator, district 30. He opposes Eugene Timms of Burns, who presently holds that office.

Carpenter says that his widely diversified background and experience should make him ideally qualified to perform as a citizen legislator, representing much of Eastern Oregon.

Carpenter was born and reared on a Wisconsin dairy farm, cut timber in Northern Minnesota's "arrowhead country" and served overseas during the Korean "crisis". He attended Cal Poly, Pomona, California, where he studied Agricultural Business Management. He was an industrial chemist for Sunkist Growers and later worked for several years in their advertising department, coordinating sales and advertising. He was a successful RV manufacturer for 9 years. He has raised cattle for 17 years in Harney county.

Carpenter owns a trucking firm, and he and two of his three sons hold a certificated PUC sand and gravel authority, working in highway construction. Bob has been a pilot for over a quarter century and in 1986 received an award for Excellence in Journalism from the American Society of Professional Journalists. Carpenter is a member of the Oregon Cattlemen's Assn., Oregon Grange and Oregon Farm Bureau. He lists hunting, water skiing and snowmobiling among his favorite sports and jogs to keep in shape.

Carpenter launched a whirlwind initiative drive in 1986 to repeal the classified drivers license law. "We only had 12 days," he says, "and we got 24,000 signatures. It wasn't enough to bet the measure on the ballot, but we sure got the legislator's attention. They gave us what we wanted in the 1987 session." His opponent was a supporter of that law.

Lexington News

By Delpha Jones, 989-8189

Lexington Grange met on Monday evening for the regular meeting with the Master, Lyle Peck in the chair. Preceding the business a pancake supper was enjoyed at which time the men cook and serve pancakes, coffee, ham and eggs. The program started at 7:30 p.m. under the direction of the newly installed Lecturer, Dorothy Jackson. Delpha Jones was escorted to the Master's station where she was presented a lovely gift in appreciation of her 8 years as Master of Lexington Grange. Johanne Wood spoke to the group on the Morrow County Museum, its origin and plans for the future. She also brought several items of interest. The Sunday school class of Joyce Hughes entertained with several numbers accompanied by Betty Marquardt. The kids are ages 3-6 and were greatly enjoyed by the group present. Introduced and escorted to the Master's station was William Alford, Master of Greenfield Grange, who later spoke to the group. Others recognized were Mrs. Alford, secretary of Greenfield Grange, Martha and Donald Baker also of Greenfield and Dot and Lewis Halvorsen, of Willows Grange. There were resolutions presented and passed. One concerning the clear way to write amendments, and one concerning the use of insecticides and pesticides. The Legis, chairman Kenneth Smouse gave an interesting report. G.W.A.

chairman gave a report on the work of that committee, and its plans to get more interest in the contests of the grange. Pomona Grange date of January 30 at Willows was announced. As Pomona officers are elected for a 2 year term and they meet only 8 times in that period it is hoped that the officers will try and attend as many of these meetings as possible. It is at these meetings that a good part of the grange work is done.

Lexington Oddfellow Lodge No. 168 met at the hall on Wednesday evening for the election of officers for the coming year. Those elected were N.G. Gene Cole, V.G. Lyle Peck, Secretary Richard Peck, and Treasurer Cecil Jones.

GWA of the Lexington Grange met at the home of Barbara Cutsforth on Tuesday for the regular meeting. Plans were discussed for the Farm City decorations, and committees for further activities were appointed. Those present were Kathy Clark, Geri Martin, Frances Smouse, Jean Nelson, Dorothy Jackson, Virginia Peck, Hilda Yocom, Delpha Jones, and the hostess Barbara Cutsforth.

The Three Links Club of Holly Lodge met at the home of Eula Bloodworth on Thursday afternoon. Plans and committees were discussed for the coming months, with the next card party being Saturday, February 6 at the hall. Door prize was won by Annetta Padberg. Those present were Joyce Buchanan, Dorothy Jackson, Leila Palmer, Geri Martin, Dorothy Burcham, Delpha Jones, and the hostess Eula Bloodworth. The next meeting is planned for Joyce Buchanan home.

Budget Committee cuts $738,000

The Morrow County school budget committee Monday cut over $738,000 from next year's proposed school budget, driving the local property tax levy down 3.2 percent over the present year.

The committee cut $406,000 from the district's reserve account, $152,537 from capital outlay, and $94,803 from purchased services.

Many of the actual line items cuts will be left up to the school administration and school board, as the budget committee set the amount to be cut, and instructed school superintendent Doyle McCaslin to decide where.

"We are going to come back to the board (school board) and decide where actual cuts will be made," McCaslin said Tuesday following the Monday night budget meeting.

Cuts in the reserve account, used to pay bills at the end of the year before tax money comes in, and a decision to lease-purchase buses instead of outright buy them, also decreased the school budget.

The school budget will be voted on by district patrons March 22. The total budget will be up by $393,153, or 3.4 percent, however, because of the cuts, local property tax levies to fund the budget will be down over this year by $244,699 or 3.2 percent.
