

(L-R) Dominic Monahan from Washington D.C., Joe McLaughlin, Mayor of Pendleton and Ted Smith of KUMA run the coffee hour at the Elks club Sat.

Craig McIntosh performs a mime routine for his audience at the Museum on Saturday.

The Farley-Monahan family poses for picture on the Courthouse steps.

Scottie Stewart brought his dogs to the trials again this year.

Verne Mobley sits in for a while for Triad Auctioneers at the St. Pat's Day Auction. Diana Ball (L) and Pat Sweeney (R) chairman of the auction look over the crowd.

Member of the BMCC "St. Patrick's Day Players" makes music during radio program.

Participants of the bed race charge up Main Street. The winner of the race was D & L Repair. The Heppner Soroptimist won "Best of Show".

The 4-H Woodworkers and Future Foresters float won first prize in the St. Patrick's Day parade.

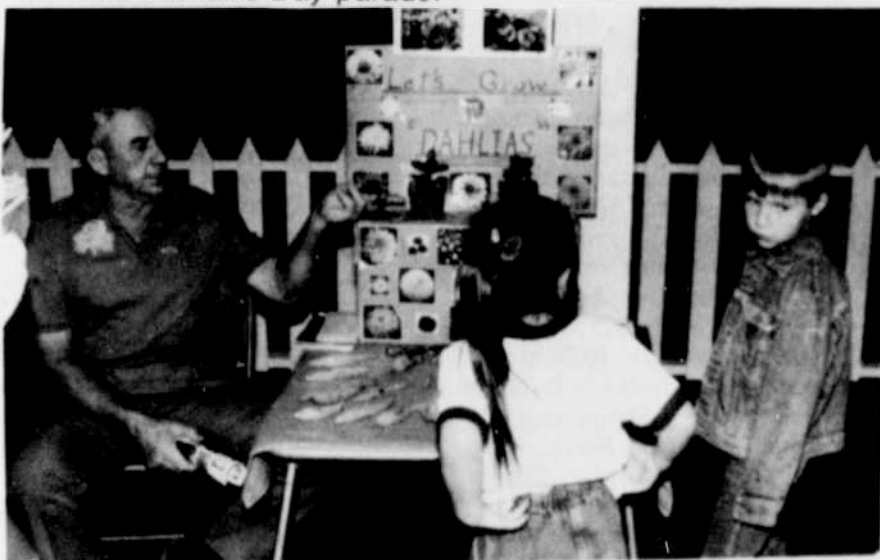

Kathleen Brazell gets her entry ready for the St. Pat's parade. She was representing the Two Trackers Horse club.

Eyeball to eyeball at the dog trials.

The Heppner Pre-School won second place in the float division. A large number of pre-scholars participated to make this a good entry.

Bill Rawlins (L) is explaining about growing Dahlias to Jaclynn Hughes and Kris Paullus at the Museum Open House.

The community choir directed by Kathy Hoskins perform at the coffee hour.

Lions club members Jeff Wallace (L) and Don Boyce serve up green cotton candy Saturday on Main Street.

The lone Cardinal Band was a welcome addition to the parade.

Local policemen (L-R) Sen. trooper Carl Martin (OSP, Gary Bingham (Heppner PD), Merle Cowett (Heppner PD) and Sgt. Dave Hoffman (OSP) compete in black powder

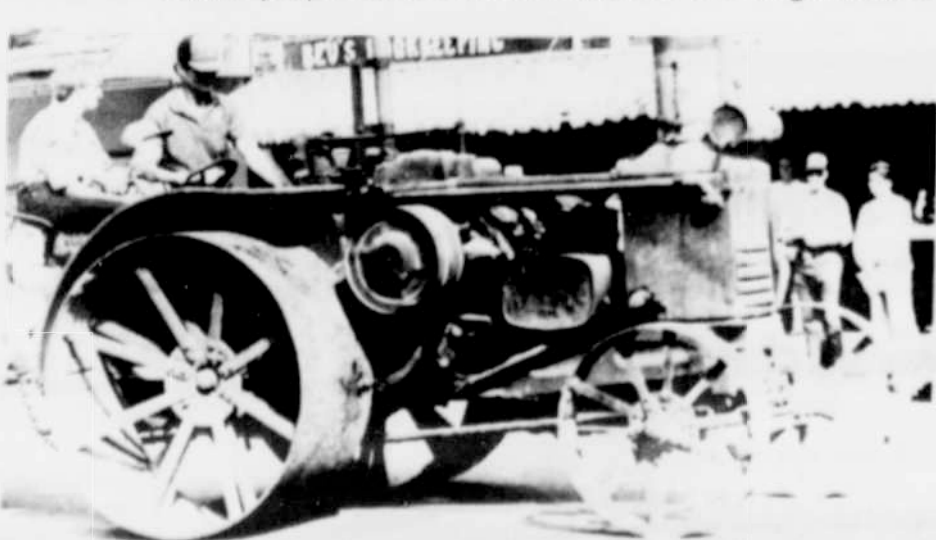

Cooks prepare the lamb barbecue at the fairgrounds Sunday.

Camille Sykes found some new friends at dog trials on Sunday at the fairgrounds.

Marion Abrams (L) and Bob Jones (R) enjoy a visit at the Museum Open House on Saturday.

Ken Turner, daughter Lori and grandson, Brandon take a comfortable ride up Main Street on their tractor of vintage age.