EMT's receive certification

By Joyce Hensley

How to deliver babies was taught recently in Boardman.

Also, instructions were given on how to administer CPR and remove persons trapped in vehicles as part of an Emergency Medical Technician I (EMT) course. Trainees from Hermiston, Arlington, Irrigon, Umatilla and Boardman attended the 120 hour course at Riverside High School.

The new Boardman EMT's, Jackie McCauley and Lori Cox, will be on call to man the Boardman ambulance.

The Irrigon EMT's will fill the gap in an emergency situation while waiting for the ambulance to arrive from Umatilla. They will respond and administer life saving techniques during the 10 to 15 minute time span.

Irrigon has a goal to acquire a rescue vehicle. "Now we have the people trained, all we need is an equipped rescue vehicle," said Irrigon Police Chief and Fire Marshall, Steve McKay.

The Irrigon EMT's certified are Dick Foidel, Rob Elkins, Burrell Cooley, Judy Creighton, Sandra Dooney, and Harry Gilpin.

Cheryl Ammons, Boardman, and Doug Foster, Arlington, instructed the course. Assistants were Tim McCreary, Dean Mason, Mel Lappen, and Cliff Peck.

Businesses are behind Irrigon Chamber

By Joyce Hensley

Irrigon's businesses and residents showed their support of the newly formed Chamber of Commerce recently.

According to Mike Pearsall, President, forty-five interested people turned out at a meeting to lay the foundation for "advancing the general welfare and prosperity of the Irrigon area."

"The by-laws and goals are the next thing on the agenda," he said.

The group is using by-laws from the national Chamber of Commerce, then adapting them to their own special needs.

Officers elected were, Ray Hill, president elect, Jim Netteland, vice president; Donna Eppenbach, secretary; Angie Foidel, corresponding secretary; Dee Warren, treasurer; and Pearsall, President.

The organization will meet the third Thursday of each month.

Corrections

Debra A. Starr, Boardman, was on the honor roll for winter term at Blue Mountain Community College. She was inadvertently left off of the list.

The owner of the New Irrigon Tales and Tackle shop is Eric Dirks. An error was made in the spelling of his name. We are sorry for this misspelling Eric.
