Jordans enjoy fixing up bed and breakfast

Faith and John Jordan stand at the back porch of their "Victorian" house in lone. They are making it into a bed and breakfast.

Faith and John Jordan purchased their vintage 1898 Victorian house in April and moved in on May 1. The house is located in lone and was bought from Intermountain Agency. They were told it was one of the finest Victorian houses in northeast Oregon. Their idea is to have a bed and breakfast.

The house was built by Woolery, a well-known Morrow County Man, in 1898. Thus the name, Woolery Bed and Breakfast.

John is retired from the Forest Service as a packer. He was last employed at Dale Ranger Station. His job was to build dams and bridges, do cat work and trail maintenance, which he did horseback. He worked for the Forest Service off and on for 20 years, the last 6 1/2 as a permanent employee. He also owned Ritter Hot Springs for 9 years.

He and his wife purchased the Office Cafe and Tavern two years ago. Faith has a beauty shop in the back and it is quite handy for people to stop in to have a cup of coffee and a haircut. She was a beautician in Portland for 18 years.

There are six bedrooms, three bathrooms, a dining room, parlor, kitchen, laundry and cellar in the house.

The Jordans are doing some repair work. The wood is being stripped of paint and restored to its natural color. Pipes and leaks have been repaired. Faith is doing the painting and papering and John is doing most of the repairs. "It is too costly to hire it done", he says.

The windows in the house almost all have stained glass in them. There is a beautiful winding stairway leading to the upstairs. There are bay windows upstairs in a bedroom and also downstairs in the parlor. One of the "extras" in two of the upstairs bedrooms are small porches to sit outside and enjoy the view. A huge porch surrounds the front and side of the house. The foundation is of native stone and the house is heated by a wood stove with an oil back-up.

It is a very comfortable house and already they have had a customer for their bed and breakfast. They plan to re-do just a little at a time as time and money allow, until it is complete. When it is complete, they will have a very nice home and business.
