Mike Orwick in new machine shop.

A new machine shop has opened in Lexington in the back of Lexington Lumber Yard.

Operated by Mike Orwick, son of Gene and Dona Orwick, owners of Lexington Lumber, the machine shop will offer "almost any type of machine shop work", says Mike.

Orwick, 31, was raised in Heppner, graduating from Heppner High School in 1976. He attended Mount Hood Community College where he received an associate degree in architecture. He then attended two years at the University of Oregon, changed majors and graduated from machinist school at Lane Community College in Eugene.

Orwick has worked in Boardman, Hermiston, and most lately for five years at Eagle Truck and Machine in La Grande, doing work on logging and farm equipment.

Mike is married, his wife's name is Barb, and they have two children, Douglas four years old, and Elizabeth two.

Donations are slow coming in

Donations for St. Patrick's Day are slowly coming in, says Jim Farley. "Every year I receive donations from many out-of-towners to keep this celebration going," says Farley. "I usually get more money from out of the county than in."

All of you Irishmen (and others) that enjoy the St. Patrick's Day week-end, send your donations to George Koffler, St. Patrick's Committee, in care of the Bank of Eastern Oregon and let's make this thing fly.

Chamber Chatter

By Claudia Hughes Chamber Manager

If only it were possible to bring Conference speakers to share with everyone in Morrow County, it would be a real morale booster. The three keynote speakers at the OWIA Conference (Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Alaska) each kept the attendees full attention for two hours. The theme was "Chambers of Change" and focused on To Dos For A Successful Chamber; What's Right With People? and Coping With Stress Resulting From Change In The 80's and 90's.

One speaker shared the story of a railroad man who had worked repairing tracks for 30 years. One day the railroad presidential car came along and the president of the railway stepped off to shake hands with the workers. He asked the track repairman to come with him into the car. When the man returned after sometime, he related that he and the president had started to work together on the tracks. "Ya know, we talked about why I'm still here and he's there; I went to work for $2.50 an hour and he went to work for the railroad."

March Chamber Agenda: 12-14 Governor's Tourism Conference in Pendleton (If you are interested in attending part or all of the conference, contact Chamber Manager for pre-registration.) 14-Youth Program featuring National High School Rodeo. Many youth in Morrow County are involved in this sport and would like to see it shared with Chamber members. Chamber meets at noon, Tuesdays, Elks.

17-19-Celebrate St. Patrick's Weekend in Heppner. 21-Steve Anderson addressing the community sewer system. 28-OWIA "pep talk", membership drive kick-off, and board meeting.

Thought for the week: "The game of life is a game of boomerangs. Our thoughts, deeds and words return to us sooner or later with astounding accuracy."
