Graduation held in South Morrow Co.

Dick Devin and Susan Plocharsky greet the crowd with a big smile after graduating in the class of 1989 at graduation held at HHS Thursday night.

Approximately 60% of the students receiving diplomas from Heppner High School at their graduation Thursday night also received scholarships.

Thirteen of the graduates received Troedson scholarships. They were Craig Angell, Nancy Bailey, Michelle Beck, Jill Conklin, Mike Correa, Barney Lindsay, Mike Mahoney, Bryan Padberg, Benji Pearson, J.J. Shaw, Christy Stroeber, Sandi Turner and Nance Wright.

Several students received tuition scholarships to Blue Mt. Community College. Full tuition awards were presented to Jess Osmin and Ted Schwarz. Libby Britt received a tuition award for the 89-90 rodeo season. Fall term tuition awards were given to Will Martin for his skills contest achievements and to Nancy Bailey for livestock judging.

The American Legion Auxiliary awarded a state scholarship to Nance

Taylor and their local scholarship to Mike Correa.

The Heppner Lions Vocational scholarship and the International Woodworkers of America local vocational scholarship were awarded to Mike Correa. Ted Schwarz was the recipient of the Heppner Soroptimist International vocational scholarship.

Scholarships for studies in health related areas were awarded by the Pioneer Memorial Foundation to Jill Conklin and Christy Stroeber and by Dr. Richard and Kristie Carpenter to Michelle Beck.

Several awards were presented to students for their participation in athletics and other activities. The Heppner Booster's Club scholarships were won by Barney Lindsay, Benji Pearson, J.J. Shaw, and Nance Wright. Columbia Basin Conference scholarships were awarded to Barney Lindsay and Sandi Turner. Bryan Padberg was awarded the Stookey Memorial scholarship, the Army Scholar/Athlete award and the Jim Barratt trophy.

Heppner Elks Lodge scholarships for most valuable students were awarded to J.J. Shaw, Benji Pearson, Barney Lindsay and Jill Conklin.

The Portman Improvement Award was won by Dina Ruiz. Benji Pearson was the recipient of an Oregon State University Dads' Club scholarship. The Morrow County Chapter of the Oregon School Employees' Assn. awarded their scholarship to Craig Angell. Morrow County 4-H Leaders' Assn. scholarships were presented to Benji Pearson and Nancy Bailey.

J.J. Shaw was recognized as an Oregon Scholar. Shaw also received an Airforce ROTC scholarship, Charles Kyd award, Kinzua scholarship and Lutheran Brotherhood award.

The class of Lone High School waits patiently for graduation to commence at graduation ceremonies in Lone last Saturday night.

Sun shines on Memorial Day Picnic

The colors were presented at the Memorial Day Picnic by the American Legion. Don McElligott (center) challenged everyone to have a great day!

After a week of clouds and rain, the sun came out Sunday, May 28 to greet the 36th Annual Morrow County Pioneer Memorial Day Picnic at the fair pavilion.

The registration was again handled by the Soroptimists. The Heppner Garden Club members did the floral arrangements with Dr. Wallace Wolf's rainbow of irises in containers furnished by Jane Rawlins.

The program began with the presentation of colors by the American Legion Post No. 95. Conrad Tweek read the roll of the honored dead while taps was played by Bob Isted.

Don McElligott gave the welcome and introductions. Terry McElligott sang "Far from the Home I love" from Fiddler on the Roof (and yes, Terry was born in Rome, N.Y.) Jean Nelson presented the Barton Clark family with a plaque honoring them as the Century Farm of the Year.

Prizes were awarded to those born before 1910: Elma Scott, Mildred Padberg, Mary Nikkander, Mabel Denny, Tom Foley and Beulah Florence. Also receiving prizes were Barbara McElligott Fritz as having come the farthest and her sister Gerri McElligott Fritz as the oldest member of the clan to be present.

Fr. Dominic Hahn gave the invocation followed by the dinner served by members of the McElligott family, hosts of this year's picnic. Lee Ansotegui was head chef of the dinner, barbecuing the steaks and hamburgers.

The animated faces and volume of noise attested to the happy sharing of old memories, catching up on recent events and hopefully, plans to come and share the good time next year.

Unfortunately, no host has been found for 1990. Perhaps two families, a church or service organization would be available to take on this community service.

The picnic used to be held on the courthouse lawn, but the number of those attending kept growing so it was moved to the fair pavilion.

Blood Drawing held last Thursday

Thursday, May 25 was the day for the Red Cross Blood Drawing, held at the Elks Lodge from 2-6 p.m.

Soup labels purchase equipment

Heppner Parents Club donated these items shown by left to right: Katie Bacon, Jeff Records and Nickie Clark to Heppner Elementary School. Katie is in the tunnel, Jeff and Nickie are holding the soccer balls and standing by the cooler. Also donated were a Thesaurus, dictionary and electric pencil sharpener. They were collected as part of the Campbell Soup label contest won by Mrs. Beck's 7th grade class. Central Market, Court Street Market and Safeway helped collect labels. 9,550 labels were collected.

Time to pre-register for Pre-school

Heppner Pre-School is now taking reservations for the 1989-90 year. Children must turn three by September 1 to attend the three year old class and four by September 1 to attend the four year old class. Children attending day care for 32 or more hours a week may attend pre-school free of charge, but pre-registration is still required. Cost for the three-year old class is $20 a month; class is held once a week. Cost for the four-year-old class is $40 a month; class is held twice a week.

Call Heppner Day Care, 676-5429 for more information and pre-registration.

Firemen cook pizza

Friday is a chance to eat some good pizza, and benefit the Heppner Fire Department at the same time.

Kates Pizza in Heppner will turn over the kitchen to the Heppner Volunteer Fire Department for the evening, with all proceeds going toward purchase of needed firefighting equipment.

The firemen will begin serving at 5 p.m. this Friday.
