Reception to honor McDaniels

A 60th anniversary reception honoring Carl and Sylvia McDaniel will be held Sunday, August 6 at 3 p.m. at the Heppner Senior Center.

The couple met at a community dance held in the grange hall at Top, in Grant County. She was 13 and since he was an elderly 23, he had to wait until she grew up so he could marry her. When Sylvia was finally a few days past her 18th birthday, and coincidentally, a few days after the 1929 stock market crash had taken place, they "ran off" to Heppner to be married without informing her parents. When asked a couple of years ago if they hadn't had a lot of qualms about the Wall Street disaster and the perilous world economic situation at the time, in his usual dry way, Carl said, "no, that really wasn't what we were thinking about at all."

After they went back to the family and confessed they were married, Sylvia's parents were at first saddened not to have been a part of the ceremony, but later joined with the neighborhood to give a "shivaree" for the new couple. Friends and well-wishers are invited to join the family to join in this celebration with refreshments and the sharing of special memories from this 60 year marriage.

Members of the team were Jason Maddox, Tyson Pratt and Justin Meads, Boardman; Sam Sumner and Jim Tellechea, Lexington; Richard Koffler, Kevin Payne and Jarrod Wicklund, Heppner; Russel Procter, Jeremy Jorstad and Bryan Clubb, Umatilla; Marc Evans, Brett Palmer and Cody Sandlin, Irrigon; and Ryan Barker, Fossil. ## Garden club discusses activities

The regular meeting of Heppner Garden Club was held at the Senior Center July 10. Refreshments were served by Theta Lowe and President Pat Brindle. Committee appointments for the coming year were made and meeting locations arranged.

June activities were reported. The first week in June was designated as Oregon Garden Week and flowers were placed in the Museum and the Senior Center. A picnic was held at the Gonty Cabin at Penland Lake June 25 with about 30 members and guests.

Theta Lowe reported on the highlights at the State Garden Convention in Coos Bay June 19, 20 and 21 at which conservation was especially stressed. Theta and Jane Rawlins were Heppner members attending.

Plans for participation in the Morrow County fair next month were discussed and plans for placing a tree as a memorial for Dr. Wolff, a long time Garden Club member.

Next meeting will be held August 7 at the John Murray home and will be a potluck dinner at 6:30 p.m. The program will be provided by Beryl Stillman who will show slides of wild flowers.

Poppy patch uncovered

Police Chief Doug Rathbun exhibits some poppies that he took from the yard of a local person. This type of poppy is illegal and they were burned by the police. The person whose yard in which these were found, was unaware of the type of poppy they were. Anyone with questions they may have regarding a certain type of poppy may contact Chief Rathbun.

Ninth CRP signup slated for July 17-Aug. 4

Starting July 17, county offices of USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service once again will accept bids for the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP). The program removes eligible cropland out of farming for 10 years and designates the acreage to permanent vegetative cover.

ASCS officials acclaim the program's success thus far, and remind producers of the 1990 closing.

"The total acreage enrolled in the program has reached more than 30 million acres," said ASCS administrator Keith Bjerke. "The program has become the largest long-term cropland retirement program in U.S. history."

Approximately 108,000 acres of Morrow County farmland are included in the CRP total to date.

Eligible CRP acres include erodible cropland, cropped wetlands, filter strips, and cropland subject to scour erosion. The program has authorization to accept acreage only through 1990, Mr. Bjerke said.

The voluntary CRP authorizes each farmer to receive up to $50,000 per year based on a per acre rental rate and the number of acres under the 10-year contract. Rental payments are made annually to producers with approved contracts, and cost-share payments are made to provide one-half the cost of the permanent vegetative cover establishment.
