Chamber Chatter

By Claudia Hughes, Chamber Manager

Suddenly it's summer and people are traveling to Heppner and away from Heppner. "We Put the 'O' In Oregon," Tuesday's Chamber program, focused on hospitality in Oregon for visitors and travelers. The two building blocks of hospitality are: What we say to our guests/customers and how we say it. To enhance a visitor's experience, we need knowledge of our local area and a positive attitude when delivering that knowledge.

Here are "Ten Commandments For Being a Superhost" as offered through the hospitality training: 1) maintain a positive attitude; 2) show interest in others; 3) be prompt, courteous and pleasant; 4) look your best; 5) know all about your community and encourage visitors to stay and see Oregon (Heppner); 6) put yourself in the visitor's/customer's place; 7) offer to help before being asked; 8) be a good listener; 9) greet customers and invite them back; 10) wear a smile. Nearly 80 percent of visitors say that "relaxing and sightseeing" are their primary reasons for coming to Oregon, so let's see that they have the opportunity to do just that.

For those of you venturing out, stop by the Chamber office/Heppner TV to pick up some free brochures. Just hot off the press is "Oregon, The Official Travel Guide" and Heppner has two full paragraphs finally. Also available is a worldwide Chamber directory for your reference, so if you wish to travel to a specific destination, you can contact the particular office to send you information. We aim to please. Come by Friday from 2 to 4 p.m. to celebrate Heppner T.V.'s 35 years in business.

Thought for the week: "Every land has its special rhythm and unless the traveler takes the time to learn the rhythm, he or she will remain an outsider there always."
