

Experience the thrill of the Professionals with PRCA

This year's rodeo-goers will once again experience the thrill of the professionals--with the PRCA rodeo Saturday and Sunday August 18 and 19. Grand entry for both days is 1:15 p.m. Bull riding will be from 9 to 10 a.m. with other events 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Slack time is 9 a.m.

Sunday.

Team branding will be held Thursday, August 16 with entries taken at 6 p.m. and branding at 7 p.m.

There will be no races this year. Stock contractor is Kelsey McLean.

Livestock growers strong supporters of youth

The Morrow County Livestock Growers (MCLG) have always been a strong supporter of youth in Morrow County. Their latest donation of $1,700 over the last two years was to get new sheep panels built for the fair. Last year about 2/3 of the sheep were in metal panels; this year they will all be in the new panels thanks to the MCLG and the Morrow County Fair Board who put 1,000 into the project last year.

The MCLG continue to sponsor the sale and invite everyone out to support the youth of Morrow County.

Blue fair & rodeo button offers unlimited admission

Purchase of a $12.50 blue fair and rodeo button will get your blue jeans past the gate for all five days of festivities this year.

Daily admission will be $3 during fair, Wednesday through Friday. Daily admission for Saturday and Sunday for both fair and rodeo events is $5. Children under 12 are admitted free.

Thursday is senior day this year, with seniors admission that day

$2-$1 off the regular price.

Buttons may be purchased in Heppner at Murray's Drugs, Peterson's Jewelers, Millers Mini Mart, Coast to Coast and Court St. Market.

In Lexington at the V & G Tavern, Morrow County Grain Growers, Del's Market and Cottage Accents; and

In Ione at Bristow's Market, Office Tavern, Bank of Eastern Oregon and Beechers.

Floral dept to have new look

For the past several years the fairgrounds have been decorated with flower planters supplied by the Heppner Garden Club. This year fewer planters are planned but fair visitors can expect a new look in the open class floral department.

Flowers, plants and floral designs will be exhibited in covered outdoor lattice-framed booths along the north wall of the main exhibit building.

Ione, Lexington and Heppner Garden Clubs manage the flower show and floral planters around the grounds. They are urging exhibitors to check the flower show schedule in the premium book and bring many entries to contribute to the "new look." Entries will be received from 4 to 8 p.m. on Tuesday and from 8 to 10 a.m. on Wednesday.

Also new this year will be a gardeners' hospitality table in the floral area where experienced gardeners will talk gardening with anyone interested.

Vets Dept. offers health screening

Eligibility and health screening will be available to area veterans at the Morrow County Fair on Thursday, August 16.

Representatives from the Walla Walla VA Medical Center will be providing benefits assistance from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. in the main exhibit building at the fairgrounds. This assistance will include eligibility screening for medical care benefits, blood pressure monitoring and blood sugar testing. This assistance is free of charge and open to all area veterans.
