

Ione Insights

By Anne Morter

Willard French returned home recently from a 25-day trip to Alaska. He started his trip in Unalaska, where he attended his daughter's wedding on August 5. From there, he travelled to Nickolski to visit some old friends. Next he visited a ranch near the village of Cherfonski where he worked in 1948. After returning to Unalaska, he travelled on to Kenai where he stayed for three days before heading home.

Ruth McCabe took her 12 year old grandson, Kevin Eldridge of Long Island, N. Y. to the airport on August 22. Kevin had been visiting in Ione since mid-July.

Recent luncheon guests at the Ralph Morter home were Terry McElligott of Newberg, Martha McElligott of Beaverton and Monica Cormie of Pendleton.

Congratulations to all the Ione 4-H members for a fine showing at the Morrow County Fair.

Recent guests at the home of Pat Pettyjohn were Louis and Bessie Delozier of Lattrell, TN and Paul and Myrtle Wilson of Hudson, NC. Louis is a cousin of Pat's and Paul is a war buddy of Louis's. The couples were touring the country in their motor homes.

Pat Pettyjohn's daughter and grandson, Patty and Trevor McCain attended the Western States Rodeo Finals in Baker City on August 25-26. Trevor entered the weekend in second place for the year in calf roping and in third place in the team roping.

Guests at the Charlie Doherty home for Labor Day weekend cookout were John and Jenae Doherty and Mary Doherty, all of Pendleton and Matt and Doris Doherty from Irrigon.

Rick Doherty and K'Lyn Johnson made a brief visit at the home of Rick's parents, Charlie and Bev Doherty on their way camping Labor Day weekend.

Joe and Jeri McElligott, Eric and Marmie Anderson, and Paul, Sue and Jason Proudfoot recently returned from a four-day, three-night white water rafting trip through Hells Canyon on the Snake River. They reported that it was an enjoyable trip despite a wide variety of weather ranging from hail to sunshine.

Labor Day weekend guests at the Lewis Halvorsen home were Harriet and Bill Busby of Seattle, Ruth and Glen Payne of Albany and Henry and Margaret Halvorsen of Medford. All were in town for the Ione school reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lindstrom hosted his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Helina of Seattle over the weekend. The Helina's were also here for the reunion.

Dot and Lewis Halvorsen attend a Halvorsen reunion in Paul's Valley, OK August 10-12. They flew to Oklahoma with Lewie's brother and sister-in-law, Henry and Margaret Halvorsen of Medford. The reunion was held on Lewie's father's ranch which has been in the family since he immigrated from Norway in 1916. Most of the family still lives in the area but people came from California and Norway, as well as Oregon, for the reunion.

The Adventures of Grazelda & Clem

(After Hours)
5:00 a.m. - 11:00 p.m.

Clem said, "Hey Grazelda, how about going outside for awhile? Grazelda quizzed, "What in the world for?" Clem cracked up, "Because the fellers down at Miller's Mini Mart & Chevron said that if you would sit outside, we wouldn't have all these flies in our house!" Grazelda steamed, "I'll kill 'em, I swear, I'll get 'em all!"

Ione team starts season

By Anne Morter

A young Ione football squad with just two seniors and improved quickness, start off their season hoping to improve on the 3-6 record of last year. With 15 boys out for the team, including eight returning lettermen, second year coach Greg Rietmann, feels he may have the manpower to get the job done.

A welcome addition to the team is senior transfer, Matt Glimore. At 6'4" and 190 pounds, he will add muscle to both the offensive and defensive lines. Senior fullback/linebacker, Jim Holtz at 165 pounds looks good, and junior Gabe Garcia at 150 pounds should give the Cardinals speed at the split end position.

Rietmann plans to run out of the 1 formation and estimates that 80 percent of the plays will be on the ground with the remainder in the air. He also plans to run three and four man fronts defensively.

With the Big Sky League weakened by graduation, Ione is gunning for one of two playoff berths. Rietmann predicts that Sherman County and Culver, the Cards Friday night foe, will be the powerful teams to beat.

The Cardinals started their season last Saturday in Dufur with a four team jamboree. Portland Lutheran, Mt. Hood Christian and the host team, Dufur rounded out the field where each team played one quarter against the others.

The Cards first quarter opponent was Dufur. A quick-out pass from David Wagenblast to Ryan Halvorsen in the closing seconds gave Ione the 6-0 win. Rietmann said the team played very well especially considering that it was the first quarter of the season.

The dreaded first game jitters arrived in the second quarter, and along with a few untimely penalties added up to a 0-12 loss to Portland Lutheran. Portland Lutheran scored first on a pass interception return and then again on a pass play.

The Cards met Mt. Hood Christian in the third quarter where they played to a 0-0 tie. Rietmann felt that Mt. Hood was the best team there, but excellent play by the Ione defense kept them scoreless. The Cardinal marched as far as the Mt. Hood one-foot line but were unable to punch it in, leaving the period deadlocked.

Rietmann felt the Cardinals had an overall good performance at the jamboree. The coaches got to see most of the boys play and he felt it was a good way to kick off what he hopes will be a successful season.

The Cards league opener against Culver will start Friday at 7:30 p.m. at home. With Culver being a probable playoff contender, this first game is an important one for the Cardinals.

HHS Classes of '49,' '50,' '51' hold reunion

Eighty-eight classmates, spouses and friends attended the June 23-24 social hour, banquet class reunion held at the Heppner Elks Club.

Each classmate was given a button with their school picture and name for quick identification, by Joan Hughes and Pat Gentry at the registration table.

Rita Greenup and Francine Bristow decorated the tables.

Marlene Peterson organized the school picture displays. Betty Carlson served as the facilitator for the evening. Lorene Griffith led the group in remembrance for those that have died and thanksgiving for those remaining.

Pat Gentry presented a plaque and read the names of those that have died from the three classes. Jerry Gentry donated the plaque and Peterson's Jewelry donated the engraving and the name tags.

The group pictures were taken by Judy Barber. A video was taken throughout the evening by Louis Carlson. Each class member will receive a copy of their group picture and of the video.

Eddie Gunderson presented the class of 1949. Loren Piper represented the class of 1950 and Mac Campbell shared memories of the class of 1951.

Heppner Sears loaned a TV set to show the video tape to the group.

Darlene Arrington wrote several poems and read them throughout the evening.

Cecil Rill was the disc jockey, playing music of the 40's era until the last classmate retired for the evening.

Breakfast was served on Sunday at the St. Patrick's Senior Center by the Seniors. Eighty classmates and spouses were in attendance.

Others helping make the reunion a success were Gerald Bergstrom, Joyce Ward, June Duvall, Bev Wright, Lois Hunt and Fritz Cutsforth.
