

Chamber Chatter

By Claudia Hughes, Chamber Manager

Tune in to Channel 8, KGW, Portland at 7 p.m. Saturday, September 22, to follow Cycle Oregon III across our state. Maybe you'll see those hard working Soroptimists greeting cyclists all day as they arrived, or the volunteers for the Morrow County Tourism Committee serving gatorade, or all those dedicated shuttle service drivers who went above and beyond the call of duty as they logged many miles; hard on horses and vehicles but I understand a good time was had by all.

On or off screen, everyone who helped in any way on this community undertaking is a "star" and a true "Heppner survivor of Psycho Oregon III." There is still an opportunity to own a survivor T-shirt. Orders have been coming in from cyclists. If local people want a shirt, they are now on sale for $8 at the Chamber Office (Heppner TV).

Just received a call from a Corvallis cyclist who wanted to thank Heppner for a terrific time and great hospitality and another message from Bellevue that Heppner was the best stop. That's what we want to hear.

Time for a new focus...eight members of the Heppner area Response Committee for Rural Economic Development will be traveling to John Day Friday and Saturday for a training session for eastern Oregon communities. Members will be looking to all of you for input in the planning process, because a program like this doesn't work unless ideas come from everyone. When people have ownership in planning, successful projects are the result. What do you see for Heppner down the road? What are your dreams for your town? What part would you like to play in the future of Heppner? What changes would you like to make? You'll be hearing more about this.

See you at Chamber, noon Tuesday, Heppner Elks with a speaker Bridgett Neff, IFYE exchange student from Switzerland.
