Lady Cards pull off big win against Condon

By Anne Morter

The lone Lady Cardinals put in another busy week of volleyball, pulling off a big win against Condon at home on Tuesday, falling to Sherman County on the road on Thursday and defeating Lyle Washington on Friday at Lyle. Condon was the only league game of the week, and that win moved the Cards into a tie with Condon for first in the East Division of the Big Sky League. Ione's season record advanced to 8-4 and their league record stands at 4-2.

The Cards downed Condon in three games, 15-2, 14-16, 15-6 to deal the Blue Devils their first league loss. "Obviously it was an up and down game," said coach Jocelyn Jones. She added that her team came out cold in the second game and couldn't quite recover in time but used the home court to their advantage in the other games. "The noise level in our gym affected Condon," said Jones.

"It was a big win," commented Jones. "We played well as a team." She cited Kari Morgan for strong servicing and Wendy Anderson for good net play.

At Sherman County, the Cards took advantage of the non-league game to work on offensive skills and spread around the playing time. The Cardinals fell to the Huskies, 15-10, 8-15, 13-15. "We used this match for other reasons," said Jones. "We did what we wanted to do so I was happy," she added.

On Friday, the Lady Cards traveled to Lyle where they defeated the host team, 12-15, 15-13, 15-6. Again, the Cards worked on offensive skills and all the substitutes saw court time. Jones had the team trying out some different offensive strategies and she said "by the third game, we were playing smoothly."

The JV team chalked up two wins during the week, defeating Condon 15-11, 15-13 and downing Sherman County 15-12, 15-9.

This week, Ione has a Homecoming double header on Thursday. Dufur is first on the agenda at 3:30 p.m. followed immediately by Helix.

Lexington Grange meets, resents pins, certificates

By Delpha Jones

Lexington Grange met on Sept. 24 for their regular meeting and the booster night. Presentation of membership certificates was made to those who have been members for 25 years. Seals were presented to those who have achieved 55 and 60 year memberships. A bountiful dinner was enjoyed after which the speaker of the evening, John Cameron, the Oregon State Grange treasurer, recited a fine poem on what is the Grange, and gave a few words on the Grange.

Delpha Jones, lecturer, presented a 55-year seal to Mildred Wright, 55 and 60-year seals to Kenneth Smouse and 25 year certificates to Hilda and Joe Yocom and Carl Smouse. Not present to receive theirs were Muriel and Elmer Palmer, Judy and Robert Stevens, Jim Farley and Kenneth Jones. Jean Nelson presented Alfred Nelson, Jr., his 55-year and 60-year seals at St. Mary's Hospital in Walla Walla where he was a patient. Barbara Gilbert received a 50-year certificate and golden leaf pin. Harold and Edna Peck were presented with the paid receipt when he joined the Lexington Grange 60 years ago. At this time Robert Wilcox, Dorris Graves' father, was the master. There were several present who had joined 50 and 60 years ago, but had at some time dropped membership and the awards are for continuous membership.

A beautiful decorated cake with blue and yellow flowers and the words 25 and 50 year members written on it was served from a tea table adorned with yellow candles, silver service and a crystal punch bowl. Frances Smouse and Geri Martin poured and Jean Nelson served the cake.

Joe Yocom, master, called the meeting to order and the distinguished guest, John Cameron was escorted to the master's station and recognized. At this time the charter was draped for Margerat Wright, from Pendleton, a member of this Grange, with Barbara Gilbert taking the part of Ceres and Mildred Wright, chaplain. The legislative chairman, Kenneth Smouse, reported on the farm program and urged all to read their voters' pamphlet as there are several measures on the ballot that are of interest to farmers. Dorris Graves, the delegate to the state session, gave an interesting report. The guests gave a lovely poem at the draping of the charter.

The next meeting will be October 15. The Blue Mountain Fiddler's concert and stew supper will be held Saturday evening, Oct. 20 with supper starting at 5:30 p. m. and concert at 7. Pomona Grange will meet in Lexington on October 27.
