Intergenerational Theater on way

The Heppner Intergenerational Theater is on its way to its first production. Twenty-seven people of all ages have now indicated areas of theater production in which they want to perform.

At their first meeting April 21 at Heppner Senior Center the group agreed to use the traditional theater organization: producer, director, assistant director, publicity manager, stage manager, directors of lighting, costumes, make-up, sound, properties, sets and box office and house manager. The producer will be the Morrow County Children and Youth Services Commission to whom quarterly reports will be made. Director for the first production will be Jane Rawlins, with Kathy Hoskins as music director, Rikka Tews as pianist, Kathy Anderson as publicity chairperson, and Gerald Condon as box office and house manager. Others attending the meeting and indicating in several phases include: Cindi Doherty, Barbara Struthers, Jenny Bingham, Sherry Bingham, Rose Moe, Sherry Hiatt, Kathy Hire, Lauri Hire and Ruth Nutting.

The group discussed musical comedies and gay nineties "Mellerdrammers" and will be reading several of these before their next meeting, April 30 at 7 p.m. at the Senior Center when they will make the choice. Casting will be done by mid May with a tentative production date in early July.

"The word is out to everyone of all ages who are interested to come to our April 30 meeting and join the troupe," says Rawlins. "There is room for everyone. Call 676-9435 for more information."

Hedman attends conference

Rita Hedman, Veterans Service officer for Gilliam/Morrow County, attended the semi-annual statewide Oregon County Veterans Service Officers conference held April 17, 18 and 19 in Grants Pass.

The session, sponsored by the Oregon Department of Veterans Affairs, provided county veterans service officers with updated information necessary to assist Oregon veterans, their dependents and survivors in applying for state and federal veterans' benefits in such areas as: housing, education, counseling, claims, insurance, employment, medical, compensation and pension.

Keynote speaker was James Fitterer, adjudication officer, US Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) regional office, Portland. His presentation covered the changes in VA law due to recent legislation and US Court of Veterans Appeals decisions.

The conference participants toured the VA Medical Center in Roseburg with presentations by the staff on fee basis payments, prosthetics, Alzheimer's disease, and dual diagnosis problems and solutions.

The conference participants also toured the VA Domiciliary in White City with presentations by the staff on admission procedures, medical administration, community and rehabilitation programs.

Lodge fund raiser planned

By Delpha Jones

In 1929 Minnie Leach McMillan deeded the present Lexington Odd-fellow and Rebekah Hall to the Odd-fellows, for a lodge meeting place and community building. Mrs. McMillan had a general merchandise store and when it closed she donated the building to the lodge. Since then there have been many changes in the financial business of the lodges, and it seems as if there just isn't enough money to go to make repairs to the building. With insurance, lights, water, fuel and state dues to the Holgate Center in Portland there is not enough money from dues to make major repairs, so other money makers are needed. The building has been used for dinners, showers, wedding receptions, card parties, get togethers for families, and dinners for bereaved families and others.

The first roof project was April 20 with a spaghetti dinners and card party.
