Letters to the Editor

Thanks to people of Morrow County

To the Editor:

I'd like to take this opportunity to thank the people of Morrow County for your active participation in the lawmaking process of the 1991 Legislative Session.

Many of you called my office or wrote to me with your individual concerns about potential effects of some of the measures being considered—your input is appreciated more than you know. Knowing your thoughts and concerns helps me to best represent you.

Others of you asked me to help with personal problems, finding yourselves caught-up in unnecessary government red tape. Those calls allowed me the opportunity to help you, and they also help make sure our public agencies are truly fulfilling their duties and working for you.

I look forward to seeing you in the coming months as I travel throughout the seven counties in my district. This is the most enjoyable part of my job as your senator. To meet to talk with you about the legislature, to answer your questions, to discuss your concerns and to look together at what lies ahead.

Until then, if you have something you'd like to discuss, or a specific event or meeting you'd like me to attend, please call or write. I can be reached at my district office: Senator Gene Timms, 1049 N. Court, Burns, OR 97720. Phone: 573-2744. Thanks Again.

Sincerely,

(s) Eugene "Gene" D. Timms
State Senator
District #30

Representing all of Morrow County

Summer Means Male Bonding

Summer means a lot of different things to different people. At our house, it means a little more male bonding.

This week Francie is off to summer school. Like lots of other top notch teachers do every summer. It's called vacation, but anyone who lives with a teacher knows better. I've only found three of the four little love notes she left for me but I'm not worried, there are several more days yet. One was on the pillow where I sleep. I'm proud to say I found that one the very first night. One year I didn't never do that again.

Daughter Laurel is off to business who lives with a student knows that summer is not a vacation, only a time for a different school in a different place, learning different things. She did up the dishes before she left. She counted the glasses and said Harold and I could drink out of only two glasses per day. We had to get some paper cups at the store.

So son Harold and I have been home "batchin." We had planned to barbecue some hamburgers for supper the first night. But he read the movie bill and gosh, it looked like a good show was on. We talked about the movie until it was too late to barbecue and still go to the movie, if we decided to go.

Which we did, so we had to have supper in town too. That way we'd only have to wash glasses. If the paper cups don't hold out that is.

The second day, Harold had to work at his job and I had a hurry up job of my own. We didn't have time to fix lunch, so we got a quick bite in town.

He wants to go to a comic book shop in Pendleton this afternoon and I want to buy that old Studebaker I saw in Hermiston, maybe we'll go together. We'll save gas and wear and tear on one of the rigs that way. But we'll be late getting back and I have to go to a meeting tonight. There won't be time to barbecue tonight. Maybe we'll have to eat in town again tonight.

Say, I'll bet Francie left that last note with the hamburger. I'll be sure to look before the week's out.

What with the women out of the house this week, it's going to be a great chance for Harold and I to do some of that male bonding. We have to learn how to forge for ourselves. Batchin' is great for men gettin' to know what it's like to get along without the women.

Harold says he's been wanting to buy some new socks, in fact, he threw away a bunch with big holes in them right after the girls left on Sunday. He says that will keep us from having to wash a bunch of clothes before mom gets home.

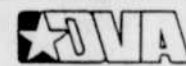

I noticed just now that the ice cube trays are about empty. It will be good training for number one son to keep that job up. I'll talk to him on the way to town. Maybe I can get him to make some sun tea in the morning. I haven't used a one of those glasses this afternoon since we don't have any iced tea.

Let's see, I've got a meeting tonight, an appointment for lunch tomorrow and Chamber on Thursday, with a little planning, we can keep the kitchen as neat and clean as when Francie left. She'll think we cleaned it up before she got home, and we'll all be happy about that.

Harold's learning quick too. He didn't get any potato chips when he went to the store. Said if he got chips, someone would have to pick up the empty bag or mom would be mad. I guess we can go without potato chips for one week.

We'll both be happy to see the two of them come home this weekend. The house seems so quiet without them and the apron on the hook seems so empty.
