Jay Harwood to announce for Pro Rodeo

Jay Howard

Jay Harwood, Sacramento, California, well-known rodeo personality, will be the announcer for the Oregon Trail Pro Rodeo, August 17 and 18. This will be his first appearance at the Heppner show, which is one of the 10 Northwest circuit rodeos sponsored by Wranglers Western Wear.

Since 1974, Harwood has been selected five times to be an announcer for the world championship National Rodeo Finals at Oklahoma City. Reared on a ranch in Montana, Harwood was an active rodeo contestant. And in recent years, he has appeared on radio, television and in motion pictures.

Officials say that Harwood is one of professional rodeo's top spokesmen. And because he has an in depth knowledge about PRCA contestants and events, he is recognized for his ability to relay the excitement, spirit and thrills of the fast-moving arena activity to the audience.

Among other shows throughout North America, Harwood has announced a variety of bigger shows including the Days of '47 at Salt Lake City, Utah; the Pro Tour finals at Caspar, Wyoming; the Pendleton Round-Up; the Calgary Stampede; the Northwest Montana State Fair Rodeo at Kallispell and the New Mexico State Fair.

Growers encouraged to display crops

Morrow County growers are encouraged to bring a sample of their crops in to the fair this year for exhibition. "The Commercial crops exhibit at the Morrow County Fair is a great way to display and promote your products", said Fred Lundin, agricultural extension agent in Heppner

According to the the 1991 Morrow County Fair premium book, grain exhibits must be at least a half a bushel, plus enough extra to allow for cleaning losses. Exhibits should be cleaned before submitting them this year.

All grain exhibits will be judged on uniformity, on freedom from foreign material, on soundness and on weight per bushel.

Grasses and hay exhibits are welcome as well. Silage should be at least five pounds in a plastic bag. Grass exhibit size varies, depending on the intent of the lot. Alfalfa hay exhibits require three bales produced during the current year in the county. Growers are required to submit core samples from the exhibit to be analyzed for moisture and crude protein.

Morrow County is Oregon's number one potato producer, and it only takes 10 pound of spuds to make and exhibit. Potato producers are encouraged to get their entries in to the Fair.

Other possible commercial crops enteries are field corn, watermelons, cantaloupe, apples, grapes, popcorn, berries, peas, beans, or any other crop raised in the county. See page 47 in the premium book for sample size and class and lot number.

Any grower with a question about commercial crops entries for the Fair is encouraged to call Larry Palmer, this year's superintendent.
