OSU Extension accepting lambing school applications

The Oregon State University Extension Service is currently accepting applications for their 1992 NE Oregon Lambing School, according to OSU Extension agents Bill Broderick and Randy Mills. The lambing school is scheduled for February 20 and 21 at the Krebs Ranch near Cecil. It provides participants with a one day intensive "hands on" learning experience.

Instructors for the school include Dr. Don Hansen, OSU Extension veterinarian; Dr. Jim Thompson, OSU Extension sheep specialist; Bill Broderick, OSU-Morrow County livestock agent; Randy Mills, OSU-Umatilla County livestock agent; and the Krebs Ranch lambing crew. Using a large scale commercial sheep operation as the classroom lambing school participants learn nutrition, animal health, obstetrics and other management practices that maximize baby lamb survival. Because of the large number of lambs born each day, the school provides as many learning situations daily as most farm flock operators would experience in many years with their own operations.

Enrollment is limited to eight participants per day and reservations are accepted on a first come, first serve basis. The $10 registration fee includes the one day school and a lambing school notebook that contains many useful references. To register for the school contact Bill Broderick, Morrow County Extension Agent, 676-9642 or Randy Mills, Umatilla County Extension Agent, 276-7111 ext. 235.

Cardinals overwhelm Helix

By Anne Morter
The Ione Cardinals stumbled in their last league game but the loss won't change the fact that Ione enters the Big Sky District Tournament as the number-one seed from the East Division. The Cards played two games last weekend, overwhelming Helix Friday evening and losing to Dufur on the road Saturday. While it made speculating about the District Tournament a bit more interesting, the places were already set before the game began.

On Friday, Feb. 14, it was Ione's game from the get-go as they downed Helix 92-63. The fired-up Cards jumped out to a 24-10 first quarter lead. The four seniors on the team, Mike Garrett, Gabe Garcia, Eric Orem and Brent Sheirbon, started their final home game and came out swinging. By halftime, the Cardinals led 53-29, and continued to roll, winning, 92-63.

Gabe Garcia led the scoring attack with 22 points followed by Mike Garrett with 20 and Tony Bjerke with 15. The Cards dominated the boards, 45-26, with Aaron Heideman leading the way with 11 rebounds. David Wagenblast dished out a whopp-

Jason Proudfoot wants the ball ing 11 assists, seven in the second quarter, and also led the team in steals with five.

The Cardinals shot 46 percent from the floor, hitting 39 of their 85 attempts. Helix also had a good shooting night, making 27 of 57 for 47 percent. Ione had one of its best performances at the line making 10-11 for 91 percent.

The Heppner Fillies had a rematch with Weston-McEwen Tiger Scots Friday night, Feb. 14, in Athena and were out to avenge an earlier loss but got hammered, losing 72-39.

The Fillies played an almost perfect first quarter and were frustrating the mighty Tiger Scots taking an early two point lead. The Tiger Scots regrouped and started to take control of the game. The Fillies were beginning to lose their composure and they committed 11 turnovers in the second quarter. The Tiger

Scots were up 37-22 going into halftime. The Fillies could not stay close and the game turned into a blowout. With an overwhelming press the Tiger Scots began to trounce on the Fillies. Colby Cummings led the charge with 24 points. The Fillies were down 53-29 going into the fourth quarter but they were not out. The Fillies managed to hit a couple of three pointers but that didn't matter as they lost big time. The Fillies played with heart but met up with a superior team. Jodi Johnston led the Fillies with 10 points.

Mike Garrett (44) fights for a rebound

The Cards encountered the Dufur Rangers Saturday, Feb. 15 on the Dufur home court. This was a team that matched up closely with them. Dufur got the early jump on the Cards and held it for most of the game as Ione had trouble finding its mark. Coach Del LaRue called it "a game of spurts" noting that the Rangers would build a lead and then the Cards would make a run at them. In the end though, it was the Rangers with the final punch as they won the game, 73-69.

Mike Garrett was the game's high scorer with 23 points, followed by Gabe Garcia with 15,

David Wagenblast with 13 and Ryan Halvorsen with 11. Garrett had 11 rebounds in the game and Garcia had nine assists in the match.
