

HIT in rehearsal for 'Chapeau Show'

Heppner Intergenerational Theater is rehearsing for what they hope will be another "hit" for the opening night of the Morrow County Fair.

"The Chapeau Show" features hats, carrying out the fair's theme "Hats Off to Morrow County".

Every community in the county is represented. One of the numbers, "The Five hundred Hats of Bartholomew Cubbins", the stage version of Dr. Seuss is about a small boy, Leland Rill, who tries to take his hat off to his king, Tony Beckett, but each hat is replaced as if by black magic, Phillip Spicerkuhn. Rachel Hoobing is narrator. One hundred fifty hats have been collected but more are needed.

Another short play, "Fisherman's Hat" is about a young wife played by Alice Traylor who tries to be rid of her husband's old fishing hat. Ed Glenn plays the part of the husband.

The Lone Grand Squares will demonstrate square and round dancing. Pat and Lizzy Smith of Irrigon will present a special mother-daughter duet and Lexington will be represented by a barbershop quartet.

Julie Proctor and Jaclynn Hughes will present a jazz dance and the Mexican Hat Dance will be performed by a Boardman group.

Chuck Nelson, Lexington will emcee the show. The show begins at 7 p.m. August 19 on the outdoor stage at the fairgrounds. There is no admission but a hat will be passed with donations going to the pre-school programs in Morrow County.

Area ranchers elected to OSU foundation board

Marnie Anderson of Lone was elected to a three-year term on the board of the E.R. Jackman Foundation, a development area of the Oregon State University College of Agricultural Sciences. Bob Jepsen was elected to a one year term as director.

Besides Anderson, Wayne Mosher, Salem, Jim Rear,

Eugene and W. Bryan Wolfe, Hermiston were elected to three-year terms on the board.

The new directors replace Terry Elder, Corvallis; Jean Nixon, Junction City; Bill Dolan, St. Paul and Phil Brandt, Salem, whose terms expired.

Jepsen and Ernie Josi, Tillamook were elected to one-year terms to complete the terms of Rick Jacobson, Mt. Angel, and Chuck Jensen, Albany, who resigned from the board.

Re-elected to the board for three-year terms were John Scharff, Burns, who is also honorary president; J.A. Macy, Madras; Glenn Harvey, Paisley and Roy Warner, Pendleton.

Missionaries to speak at Christian Life Center

Arthur and Shirley Cannon, Assemblies of God missionaries for the past 29 years, will be at the Heppner Christian Life Center for the Sunday service August 9. Worship service begins at 10:30 a.m.

The Cannons have served primarily in Peru. Their ministry has included church planting, Bible Institute teaching, and the initiation of a decentralized Bible Institute program which today has an enrollment of over 300 ministerial students throughout the country. Their most recent term of service was dedicated to the planning and construction of the Northern District Bible Institute of the Assemblies of God in the city of Chiclayo.

The Cannons have responded to the need of missionary ministry in America. They have been approved by the National Home Missions Board of the Assemblies of God. Their current assignment will be much the same as their overseas ministry, training pastors and evangelists for the growing Hispanic and Asian people groups on the West Coast. Initially they will be stationed in the Los Angeles Area.

The public is invited to hear the Cannon's missions presentation and learn more about their burden and ministry.

Wheatland Pomona has meeting

By Delpha Jones

Wheatland Pomona Grange met for a summer meeting and picnic at the Boardman marina on Sunday.

The meeting was called to order by Master Barton Clark. Reports were heard from those attending the state session. The next state session will be held in Pilot Rock.

A cake was enjoyed followed by a short memorial honoring departed members, Lewis Halvorsen, Frances Carlson, Bob Donovan and Hilda Yocom. A quilt made by Jane Dean was presented to Norma and Bill Alford of Greenfield Grange, who are leaving soon to make their home in McCall, Idaho. A money tree was also presented to the couple from Pomona Grange. Bill is a past master of Greenfield and Wheatland Pomona.

The next meeting will be held at the Lexington Grange Hall on October 31, starting at 10 a.m. with plans to have the 5th degree given in the afternoon or evening.

Alta Cutsforth celebrates 83rd

Alta Cutsforth, Heppner, celebrated her 83rd birthday on Monday, Aug. 3. Mrs. Cutsforth has seven children, 27 grandchildren and 34 great-grandchildren including newest arrivals twins Kelly (left) and Allyssa, born to Tom and Shawna Cutsforth of Fossil on Jan. 13.

Lea Calvert helps Terrence Parret with a Hands on Science project while Lilly Calvert and George Nairns watch.

"My Body" was the subject of the Hands On Science program for the first two weeks. The topic for the second two weeks is "My Environment". Class is held from 9 to 11:30 a.m. through the end of July. The four-week program for kids four to six years old was funded through the Morrow County Youth Commission. Fourteen pre-schoolers signed up for the classes held at the Heppner Day Care. Sarah Carlson is the programs coordinator.

St. Patrick's Senior Center Bulletin Board

Seventy-nine people were present for the Senior dinner July 29. Two dinners were taken out. Members of the Lutheran church served. Millie Evans won the meal ticket, Margaret the door prize, Danielle Sunday won the guest prize and the birthday gift went to Clark Gerking.

The menu for August 12 will be hamburger, cheese, potato bake, peas, tossed salad with tomatoes, hot rolls and cake. Members from the Lone United Church will serve. The Senior Board will meet following the dinner.

Marguerite (Web) Messenger has moved out of her apartment at the St. Patrick Senior Center. Tom Huddleston's mother is moving in. Everyone at the center welcomes her and hopes that she will be happy.

The Senior Center office has been short of receptionists this summer due to members of volunteer staff being on vacation or ill. If anyone would like to help out three or four hours a week, please come in or call 676-9030 to sign up.

The senior bus will be going to the Oregon Trail Interpretive Center at Baker City Aug. 14. There are still a few seats available. If anyone is interested in going please sign up in the senior office or call Yvonne Connor 676-5089.

Several seniors have been ill this summer and many are now recovering. It's nice to see Bill Cox walking about town again after his recent surgery. Velma Wight returned to her apartment Monday after a stay at the hospital in Pendleton. The seniors wish her a speedy recovery. Camilla Samples is reported to be doing well after her heart surgery at St. Vincent's Hospital last week.

Florence and Millard Holt have returned to St. Patrick's after a two month vacation at Lapine. It's great to have them back. Remember quilting on Mondays, 1-4 p.m. and exercise on Tuesday and Thursday, 10-10:30 a.m.

Lexington News

By Delpha Jones

--Dewie and Carolyn Lovelace of Ontario were overnight visitors at the home of his aunt and uncle, Cecil and Delpha Jones.

--Ray and Gae Papineau are spending some time at home, enroute from Boise, Idaho, to Salem where they will enter their horses in the races.

--Joe Yocom visited at the home of his daughter, Millie West and attended a birthday party for granddaughter Brenda Jones. He also got acquainted with a newborn grandson Justin Richard Yocom, son of Jack and Renee Yocom. Justin was born Saturday evening at St. Anthony's Hospital in Pendleton.

--Kathy and John Tellechea have returned from a vacation spent in the Steens Mts. in southeastern Oregon.

Due To Conflicting Scheduling Dates

There will not be a spaghetti feed and bingo night at Hardman Community Center on August 8 as previously announced. It will be held at a later date.
