

Oregon already has a sensible phaseout plan...

We can't afford drastic measures.

Measures 5 & 6 would each:

Immediately shut down Trojan and stop the plan to phase out Trojan over 4 years.

The sensible phaseout plan provides the time needed to develop new replacement power sources and avoid power shortages that would result from an immediate shutdown. Passage of either Measure 5 or Measure 6 would stop the widely supported 4-year Trojan phaseout plan.

Immediately cut off nearly 20% of our state's electricity supply -- causing power shortages.

The Trojan plant is Oregon's single largest power plant, and our region's electricity supplies are already tight. Measures 5 and 6 would completely cut off all of the electricity produced by Trojan shortly after this November's election.

Cause about 1,000 workers at Trojan to immediately lose their jobs and hurt Oregon's economy.

The existing plan for a 4-year phaseout of Trojan would allow time for Trojan workers to be retrained and find new jobs. But Measures 5 and 6 would cause nearly 1,000 men and women working at Trojan to be forced out of work immediately.

Cost us about one-half billion dollars in higher electric bills.

Measure 5 and Measure 6 would each force Oregon utilities to immediately import high-cost power as they struggle to prevent blackouts. Studies estimate that an immediate shutdown would cost Oregon ratepayers about one-half billion dollars more than the plan for an orderly 4-year phaseout of Trojan.

We invite you to join our committee and add your name to the growing number of Oregonians who have taken a stand against the drastic shutdown of the Trojan electric plant. Just fill out the coupon below, clip it out, and send it to us.

I'm opposed to Measures 5 and 6, the drastic shutdown measures. You may list me along with other Oregonians as a member of the NO on 5 & 6 Committee.
