

Mustangs ground Eagles 34-0

Scott Coe (32) carries ball at Harrisburg

The Heppner Mustang football team traveled to the Willamette Valley Friday Oct. 9 and came away with a 34-0 victory over the Harrisburg Eagles. The Eagles, from the Tri-Co league, were 3-1 coming in the clash and gave the Mustangs a tougher game than the score indicated.

Heppner scored once in the first quarter and twice in the second quarter to take a 21-0 halftime lead. Junior halfback Kevin Payne started the scoring with a one-yard plunge to cap a 10 play, 65-yard drive with 1:25 remaining in the quarter.

A Rick Koffler to Tony Burt pass got the Mustangs another score after sophomore running back Chris Dickenson broke loose for a 50-yard gain on the three play drive.

Quarterback Rick Koffler dove three yards into the end zone for the second score after a blocked punt set the Mustangs up in business on the Harrisburg six-yard line. Kicker Len Brittner was perfect with his third pat for a 21-0 lead.

The Heppner defense meanwhile was awesome. Harrisburg could gain only 48 yards in the first half and 105 yards for the game. Defensive tackle Shane Munkers and linebacker Scott Coe were the top defensive point scorers but they had plenty of help. Brittner and cornerback Jim Tellechea from the secondary, T.R. Riehl at linebacker and Tony Burt at defensive end each had their moments as the Mustangs stuffed the double wings attack of Harrisburg.

After a short Harrisburg punt set the Mustangs up deep in Eagle territory, halfback Scott Coe rambled 14 yards for a touchdown with 7:21 remaining in the quarter. Brittner booted the pat for a 28-0 lead.

Koffler found senior Jason Hanna in the end zone with a 14-yard completion for the final touchdown of the night. The pat was blocked and the game ended 34-0 as neither team could score in the final quarter.

Heppner racked up 277 yards on the ground and 72 yards in the air on the night.

The Mustangs return to the CBC with a road game against the Pilot Rock Rockets Friday, Oct. 16. The Rockets were soundly beaten 37-0 by Weston-McEwen last Friday and haven't won a game this season.

Fillies beat Pilot Rock lose to Eagles

By Patty Anderson

The Pilot Rock Rockets took off to an early lead against the Heppner Fillies in a conference game Oct. 8 in Heppner. The Rockets carried out their lead to win 15-7 for the first game but the Fillies won the match 7-15, 15-13, 15-13.

In game two, the Fillies battled their way to take the lead away from the Rockets. Not wanting to let go, the Rockets held on until the end of the game. The Heppner players' ability slowed slightly at the end, giving the Rockets a chance to catch up. With the score 14-8, Heppner tried to pull off the victory, but the Rockets wouldn't give up. The battle continued until the Fillies finally scored the winning point, 15-13.

The win gave the Fillies another game to determine who would win the match. The Fillies again kept their opponents off with their spiking and tips. Heppner got stuck at 14 points again and the Rockets score crept closer. The Fillies pulled together as a team and grabbed the win, 15-13. The team work the Fillies put together enabled them to perfect their bump, set, spike. The Fillies' pride was at their net. Ace spikes were sent into the Pilot Rock players. Holly Eckman had a game total of six aces to lead the Fillies. Sarah Greenup added four, Jodi Johnston, three, Jenny Krein two and Donita Sharp one.

The Fillies also excelled with excellent tips. Eckman had five, Johnston and Rondi Robinson two and Sharp one. Aces were going strong with everything including blocks. Eckman and Robinson each had an ace with their blocks.

The Varsity team traveled to Wahtonka to play the Eagles in a conference game Oct. 6. The first game started with the Fillies going strong, taking an early lead and winning the game in an easy 15-9 contest.

The second game was more difficult. The Eagles started the game this time taking the lead, but the Fillies wouldn't let it go.

They made up the difference and soon took over the lead which took them to victory for the game and match 15-9.

The Fillies' JV team also played that night and won the first game 15-12, but lost the match 10-15, 10-15. The second game the Fillies took an early lead but the Eagles, looking for the win, fought back, taking the game 10-15. Both teams wanted the third game and battled for it. The Fillies' were unable to take control of the game and lost 10-15.

to Stanfield to play the Tigers. The JV's grabbed the first win with no problem, beating the Tigers 15-1. Upset over their loss the Tigers came back to win the second game, 9-15. The Fillies' lost the third game 12-15. Char Coe and Alissa Brownfield tied with ace serves scoring two each. They also tied for high scorer in serves with five points apiece.

Dance school opens in Lexington

Jane Richards (r) helps Olivia and Caitlyn Sagely in ballet class.

A new dance school has just opened its doors in Lexington. Jane Richards is now teaching ballet, tap and jazz to children three and up and women's ballenetics, which is a low impact exercise class.

Richards, who has roots in the area and moved to Lexington about five years ago, has also lived in Ukiah and Heppner. She began dance lessons at age three and continued until age 18. From age eight to 12, she took ballet lessons from Alexander Omansky and jazz from Helene Woodward in Portland. After moving away from the Portland area she took ballet from Hazel Knapp from age 12 to 18 and returned to Portland to take lessons from her former teachers during the summers. She learned tap from Bill Broadhurst, an ex-Vaudeville dancer who was a friend of her father's. Her father played for the Portland symphony and was a member of the orchestra that accompanied the Vaudeville acts. Richards has done civic theater, but has not danced professionally, she said.

Richards is teaching several classes: pre-ballet for three and four year olds and combined ballet, tap and jazz class for five and six year olds and seven to 11 year olds. She will hold three sessions, fall, winter and spring. Cost is $10 a month for the first child in a family. Additional children in a family are $5 a month. Classes are held at the Odd Fellow Hall across from Del's Market in Lexington.

"I wanted to have something here for the children," said Richards. "They need something to do and it's healthy. Dancing builds muscle."

For registration or more information, call Richards at 989-8305.

Corneal Infections from Contact Lens

Red, painful eyes among contact lens wearers may be a sign of infection of the cornea, the transparent circle in the center of each eye. Inflammation and infection of the cornea due to improper contact lens care can cause other problems such as reduced visual acuity, abnormal sensitivity to light, and watery discharge from the eyes.

According to recent reports in the medical journals Lancet and New England Journal of Medicine, wearing extended-wear soft lens overnight increases the risk of corneal inflammation by 10 to 15 times as compared to day-time-only use. The risk of getting a serious infection from extended-wear soft lens is 21 times higher as compared to wearing rigid gas-permeable lens. According to Drs. Elisabeth Cohen and Jay Krachmner writing in Patient Care, the infection risk from disposable contact lens is not known currently, but such lens may cause less infection than the extended-wear type because they are discarded before significant protein and mucous deposits occur. These researchers make four suggestions:

1. Follow recommended measures for lens care.
2. Wear lens for only the prescribed length of time.
3. Remove lens if there is discomfort, redness, or discharge.
4. Be prepared to discontinue lens wear if necessary.
