The Heppner Mustangs kept their perfect record in league play with a 77-46 victory over the Wahtonka Eagles in The Dalles last Saturday, Jan. 30.

The Mustangs had beaten the Eagles earlier this season with great ease. This time it was no different as the Mustangs crushed the Eagles. Heppner was unstoppable as they have been all year long. The Mustangs rolled to a 22-13 lead in the first quarter. The Eagles could not stop Heppner's big men Len Brittner and Tony Burt who each turned in a 20 point performance. The Mustangs showed no signs of letting up as they went on to a 41-22 lead at the half. The Mustangs defense was stellar as they kept every Eagle player in check as their leading scorer could only muster 11 points. The Mustangs were showing the Eagles why they are the best team in the league as they extended their lead to 28 by outscoring the Eagles 20-11 in the third quarter.

With the big lead head coach Lee Padberg emptied his bench. Heppner's bench proved to be better than the Eagle starters as they outscored them 16-13 in the fourth and final period of play ending the game 77-46.

The Mustangs are now 6-0 in league play and 9-3 overall. The pivotal game of the season is this Friday, Feb. 5, for the Mustangs as they take on the Weston-McEwen TigerScots for the number one spot in the league. The TigerScots are the only other undefeated team in league play. Game time is approximately 7:30 p.m. following the girls varsity.

The Heppner Fillies, coming off their first loss of the season barely squeaked by the Wahtonka Eagles with an overtime win in a league game last Saturday, Jan. 30. The Fillies beat the Eagles on the Eagle's home court 38-33.

The Fillies had humiliated the Eagles in a game earlier in the season but were taken to the limit again as they were taken into overtime once again. The Fillies managed to pull off the win to avoid their second loss of the season. Heppner looked as they were going to kill the Eagles as their defense held the Eagles to just two points for a 9-2 lead. The Fillies' offense was unable to get going due to the slow pace the Eagles established early in the game. The pace was to the Eagles advantage as they came within four points of the Fillies, heading into the second half.

The Fillies were frustrated as the Eagles held on to the ball one to two minutes each time down the court as they were neutralizing the Fillies fast break. With their game plan the Eagles led by one point heading into the fourth quarter. The Fillies then dug themselves a hole, but came back to tie the game and send it to overtime.

The Fillies had new confidence and it showed as they squeaked out a win. The Fillies were led by Kelsie Evans who had 13, followed by Holly Eckman who chipped in 10.

The Fillies are now 5-1 in league play and 11-1 overall. The Weston-McEwen TigerScots are their next opponent in a pivotal league game. The TigerScots are the only undefeated team in league play. The TigerScots will play in Heppner Friday, February 5.

PMH awarded level IV trauma status

Pioneer Memorial Hospital has been awarded a two-year full status level IV trauma hospital categorization, PMH administrator Kevin Erich has announced.

In a letter to Erich, the state department of human resources officials commented the "efforts and commitment of the medical staff, administration, nursing and ancillary staff to enhance trauma care in this community are highly evident and to be commended."

"The facility is further strengthened by the commitment of the trauma nurse coordinator Sheridan Tarnasky and Drs. Ed and Jeanne Berretta to the resuscitation of the trauma patient. They are not only well trained, but have a firm grasp of trauma principles and treatment of the trauma patient," the report continued. "Patients are receiving excellent care at this facility."

The state survey team members did not identify any major deficiencies or weaknesses at the time of the trauma site survey. They also commented that the response times of the trauma staff are "highly impressive".

"We can be very proud we have a level four," said Erich.

PGE to develop co-gen facility

Portland General Electric Co. (PGE) has applied for a site certificate, with the Oregon Energy Facility Siting Council (EFSC) and the Oregon Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) to develop the proposed Coyote Springs Cogeneration Facility at the Port of Morrow Industrial Park, located along the Columbia River in Morrow County.

"Coyote Springs provides us an exciting opportunity to move forward with least-cost energy options to meet our customers' needs. Cogeneration, along with our aggressive energy efficiency and renewable resource plans, will help replace a portion of the Trojan Nuclear Plant's output as well as meet future growth in our region," says Dick Reiten, PGE president. "We appreciate the support and cooperation that we have received from the Port of Morrow and the city of Boardman to bring the project to this stage."

The proposed 440-megawatt Coyote Springs plant will serve two needs for the region. It will provide steam to the Port of Morrow Industrial Park, which is home to several large food processing plants requiring large amounts of steam for their operations. It will also generate electricity for PGE customers and help diversify PGE's resource base.

Currently, natural gas is used to generate only steam at the park. Through cogeneration, natural gas can be used to generate both steam for food processing as well as electricity in a highly efficient, cost-effective manner while using less natural gas than if both steam and electricity were produced separately.

"Coyote Springs is an ideal project for our overall development plan," says Gary Neal, Port of Morrow General manager. "The steam will not only make our present food processors more competitive, but will help us attract new industries. The Port of Morrow is proud to have played a pivotal role in bringing the project to this point," Neal added.

Through the state permitting process started with this application, PGE will demonstrate that the proposed Coyote Springs project will be built and operated in accordance with all Federal and State laws related to siting, safety, and the protection of the environment. Approximately two years of construction would follow receipt of the site certificate, anticipated within a year of this application.

On Friday, January 15, PGE requested firm transportation space with Pacific Gas Transmission, a privately owned and operated natural gas supplier to the region, which would support the proposed Coyote Springs project.
