

Chamber Chatter
By Claudia Hughes, Chamber Manager

We're hearing much about the Oregon Trail Sesquicentennial Celebration. If you're not a "rut nut" and are having trouble getting into the swing of things, the following will change you: Visit the Oregon Trail Interpretive Center in Baker to "feel" what our ancestors actually experienced. Attend the dedication of the Well Springs Kiosk north of Ione on Emigrant Road in Morrow County Sunday, May 16 at 2 p.m. You should RSVP to 989-8188. Purchase your tickets to "Voice of the Oregon Trail" for Saturday, July 17 at the Vert Auditorium in Pendleton. Performances are at 4 and 8 p.m. Tickets are $5 and available at the museum and Chamber office. They are selling fast.

After a short visit to Baker, I have a great respect for the pioneers who, if they didn't leave most of their treasured belongings behind, had to before they reached the end of the trail. I gaze with awe at the antique mirror in my mother's bedroom that came on the trail with her great aunt and wonder that it made it, a reminder of the home left behind. While these treasures meant much to the pioneer women, discarding them along the trail was not nearly as heartbreaking as burying someone every 80 yards. A trip back in history can give us more perspective on our lives today.

Motorcycles roared in Saturday and were greeted by volunteers Cara Osmirn, Bob Jepsen, John Edmundson, Rene Devin, Meg Murray and the Spicerkuhn family. Many riders indicated they would return in a car with their families on a later date and they appreciated the hospitality. We were sorry there were accidents. Wind, we were told, made riding very difficult.

Next week Chamber will hold another conference call with Wes Cooley, our senator. Come prepared to ask questions.

Thought for the week: "The only way to make a man trustworthy is to trust him"...H. Stimson.

A friend you can look up to

Amber Bain, Silver Lake

Amber's father saved her life. Her arm was severed when her coat sleeve caught in irrigation equipment gears at their ranch home.

Leon Bain earned Air Life's Les Clausen Memorial Lifesaving Award because he did everything right! He found the pressure point to stop the bleeding, remembered to pick up the severed arm, and remained calm throughout the rescue.

Amber's arm wasn't able to be re-attached but she's still an active 10 year old able to tie her own shoes and help with the calves on the ranch.

"We've got our Amber back," her Mom smiles.
