Cadet program topic of Grange

Roy Harrell, Boardman Police Chief, spoke to the Lexington Grange Monday, Sept. 20 on the police cadet training program.

Chief Harrell reported that the cadet program is open to young men and women 14 to 21 years old. The cadets are trained in law enforcement, traffic control and first aid. Cadets ride along with the officers on their patrol, but are not allowed to carry weapons.

The cadet program, which originated through the Boy Scouts Explorer Program, is a part of the Blue Mountain Council and has been in operation in Boardman for the past four years.

Each year the cadets have traveled to the Tri-Cities for competition and have done well, reported Chief Harrell.

Paul McDonough, cadet, accompanied Harrell.
