

BMCC lists spring honor roll

Fifty-three students received a perfect 4.0 grade point average during spring term at Blue Mountain Community College. This reflects a straight A report in all courses taken by the student.

Fifty-six students qualified for the president's list by attaining a GPA of 3.85 or higher. One hundred thirty-five students qualified for the dean's list by receiving a GPA of 3.4 to 3.84 and 160 students qualified for the spring term honor roll by receiving a GPA of 3.0 to 3.39.

To earn a position on any of the three lists a student must have carried a fulltime load of classes, which translates to 12 graded credit hours. Students may not have received an F in any class to be so honored. A pass grade does not count toward the 12 graded hours necessary to be included on the lists.

Area students qualifying include:

Aleida Goodyear named Oregon scholar

Heppner High School senior Aleida Goodyear was selected as an Oregon Scholar for the Oregon State Scholarship Commission.

The Oregon State Scholarship Commission has selected 1,467 students as Oregon Scholars from the 1994 graduating class of approximately 20,015 seniors throughout Oregon.

Students chosen as scholars were selected from the top 10 percent of each participating high school in Oregon. From this list, the commission establishes a predicted grade point average cut-off from which the top five percent are selected as Oregon Scholar finalists. Students earning this honor are selected on the basis of their outstanding academic achievement. Selection is based primarily on high school grade point average, with consideration given to aptitude test scores.

The purpose of the Oregon Scholars award is to give recognition to the academic achievement of students who have excelled in high school. These awards are honorary and have no financial compensation.

Each recipient is presented with an Oregon Scholar certificate signed by Governor Roberts, Superintendent of Public Instruction, Norma Paulus and chairperson of the State Scholarship Commission, Kurt Wilcox.

The Oregon Scholar certificates were provided courtesy of "The Oregon Community Foundation in Portland, Oregon.

Off the Wall

By Marilyn Robinson

Northwest concerns are in the daily news as we hope for fair treatment in this democracy highlighted by Flag Day, June 14, the anniversary of the day in 1777 when the U.S. Flag was adopted.

Headlines read: "Forest Service to push timber sales" which will probably be held up by appeals; "Additional water released from Columbia and Snake River dams causes gas-bubble disease for migrating fish and impacts the production of hydro-electric power"; "Public land grazing reform policies not backed up by hard science".

Fighting for this way of life that provides an abundance of cheap food and fiber has become the norm. Now even the smallest frog pond on private property must have a water right in case it impacts public use. No matter that said water storage builds underground water tables and does not hold back water that contributes to stream flows.

Perhaps the reasons for such irrational decisions lies with the lifestyles of policy makers. A recent study failed to link relationship between electrical magnetic fields (EMF) and cancer. But the research failed to show correlation of EMF and brain damage.

We are all subject to EMF which exists everywhere electricity flows. Policy makers need to spend more time in the fields to gain a true perspective. Perhaps that action might restore normal brain functions as opposed to sitting behind a computer that measure 2 mG's or less at arm's length. That study also says that EMF levels are higher at a computers side and back, so non-users and on-lookers need to get out of the office and inhale some fresh air.

This could be the reason I'm more productive outside rather than in the house. A home may contain certain hot spots due to higher magnetic fields, which provides me with a good excuse for not operating the vacuum cleaner.

Remember when it was said that the Alaskan pipeline would disrupt wildlife reproduction? Beware of that electric blanket that exposes an overnight user to fields of 20 mG's or more. And eliminate those electric alarm clocks with a median level of 14.3 mG's at arm's length. Should you have forgotten how to wind a clock, what better excuse for being late to work.

Manufacturers insist that cellular phones are safe, but research has yet to prove or disapprove that fact. Radio waves in a portable cellular phone are emitted near the user's head. In case of a fender bender, you can now blame EMF rather than the distraction of talking on a phone. Somehow we managed to communicate before this distraction jangled driving nerves.

Give up a microwave oven? No way. I wouldn't know how to cook a meal anymore. However the Electric Power Research Institute found that at about two feet in distance, microwave ovens produce a field of 10 mG's or more. So what's best for the environment and your health, eliminating wood smoke, saving electricity or frying your brains as you 'nuke' food?

If you believe everything printed, everything that we touch, eat or inhale is destructive. Using non-inspected meat, un-tested drinking water and veggies grown in soil enriched animal waste, this family should have perished long ago. If we prove to be an exception to all those life-saving regulations, perhaps we'll live to see the reversal of some decisions that are adversely impacting our economy.
