Cards win non-conference game

By Anne Morter
Watching the lady Cards' matchup Friday, Oct. 28, against Wasco County, it would have been hard to guess the game was non-conference. The teams fought long and hard for each point in the marathon match. But while the game didn't count in league standings, both teams knew that it did count for something since both will be participants in this weekend's district championship tournament. The lady Cardinals gritted out a tough win in the match, 13-15, 15-7, 15-11.

Six seniors, Kim Bedortha, Mary Jane McCarty, Allison Sullivan, Jessica Stefani, Bridget McElligott and Becky Picknell, started their last home volleyball game Friday night. They had little time to revel in that fact as the RedSides came out on a mission. The Cardinals found themselves down but then rallied to take the lead. But Wasco County had the final rally and went on to take the game. Coach Charity McElligott noted that the girls were nervous and consequently didn't play their usual brand of ball.

The second game saw much better passing, coverage and hitting by the Cards as they settled down and found some rhythm.

In the third game, the Cards jumped out early, leading 12-5 at one point. The RedSides rallied as the lady Cards struggled to get the last three points but lone was finally able to put the game away.

The Cardinals served 90 percent in a game where they went to the service line 78 times. Sullivan led the way with 13 points on 21 for 21 serving. Bedortha had 11 points with one ace on 16 of 17 serving and McCarty scored nine points on perfect 18 of 18 serving.

The team tallied a 93 percent serve receive statistic led again by Sullivan with 95 percent on 22 of 23 serve received. Melissa McElligott had 100 percent of the attempts and Bedortha and Suzie Heideman played strong in the back row.

In blocking Melissa McElligott was 100 percent on 21 blocks with 12 stuffs and Heideman missed just one of her 13 attempts.

Setters McCarty and Becky Wagenblast had a workout with 108 sets between them. Both girls tallied a 94 percent success rate.

Melissa McElligott was a force at the net with a phenomenal 13 kills and 91 percent hitting on 34 attempts. Heideman had four kills, Bedortha and McCarty had two each and Sullivan had one as the team scored 90 percent hitting.

Coach McElligott was pleased with the effort. "All our stats were in the 90's," she said. "They had to be or we would have lost." She noted that Wasco County was one of the best teams they had played in terms of being able to hit and scoop up just about anything that came their way. "When it came right down to it, they made more errors than us," she said.

The lady Cards played their final league match Tuesday against Helix with results too late for press.

Staci O'Brien earns OTPR scholarship

The Oregon Trail Pro Rodeo Committee has contributed to a scholarship award for Staci O'Brien, 1994 Morrow County Fair and Oregon Trail Pro Rodeo Queen.

The committee recently reviewed the Queen and Court's travel schedule and awards that they won throughout this last year. "The scholarship award is one way that the committee felt it would acknowledge all of the hard work and long hours the Queen and Court does for the county," said Marlene Currin, Oregon Trail Pro Rodeo secretary. "They did an outstanding job representing this county, plus do a tremendous amount of promotion during these appearances for Morrow County, as well as the Fair and Rodeo advertising."

Staci works at a day care facility in Pendleton and plans to attend Blue Mountain Community College winter Term.
