

Missionaries to speak at McGuires

Dave and Clarice Johnson, newly appointed missionaries with CBI International of Wheaton, Ill., will be speaking about their ministry at the home of Mike and Nancy McGuire, 327 Linden Way, Heppner, on Dec. 5 at 7 p.m. The Johnsons anticipate serving in Cote d'Ivoire.

The Johnsons' love and desire to work with children led them to serve at the International Christian Academy, a missionaries' children's school in Bouake, Cote d'Ivoire. They worked at ICA for two years under the CBI Missionary Assistants Corps program. They look forward to returning there and were appointed by CBI in January 1994 for career service.

Mr. Johnson holds a bachelor of science degree in education from Oregon State University in Corvallis. He taught science for 20 years at a small school in Grass Valley.

Mrs. Johnson served as the station hostess at ICA. She took care of the housing needs for all ICA guests and MAC workers.

While living in Grass Valley, the Johnsons became involved at First Baptist Church, where they are still members. Their ministry at the church provided them with many experiences that they used while serving at ICA.
