

Hill House residents receive Valentines

Joy Krein (back left) presented residents at Hill House with huge Valentine's, placemats and a rag doll made by Krein's second grade class. Due to the unexpected snow storm the class couldn't make the trip, but rescheduled and later when the snow had cleared, read poems to the ladies. Lauretta Lantis, of Condon, helped teach the class how to make the circles for the doll and Stacey Wainwright helped sew them together. Each student participated by making a circle.

Speakeasy held in Heppner

"I liked using a microphone," "using different emotions to read poetry aloud," and "being a TV reporter," were some favorite experiences voiced by the youth participating in "Advanced Speakeasy", said a spokesperson for the event. Speakeasy was held February 9 in Heppner. Youth practiced introducing speakers for assemblies and 4-H project meetings, and created skits involving television interviewers and guests. Entertainment "guests" interviewed included Elvis Presley, Elmer Fudd, Indiana Baker, Ringo Starr, a pioneer woman from the Oregon Trail and the activities director from the maiden voyage of the 'Titanic'. Celebrity news anchors 'Dan Rather and Connie Chung' were among the interviewers present.

4-H youth participating were: Shannon Wetherell, Kristi Danielson, Keith Baker, Kevin Baker, Chloe Rickson and Laura Fritz, all Boardman; Rebekah Hansell of Ir-rigon and Sybil Krebs of Cecil.

4-H leaders Glaya Baker and Barb Wetherell of Boardman and Penny Krebs of Cecil also took an active part. Advanced Speakeasy was developed and presented by Cindy Osterlund, Gilliam County 4-H Youth Development agent. Carol Michael-Bennett, Morrow County 4-H Youth Development agent assisted with the workshop.

Great Decisions begins March 2

The question, "How can the U.S. chart its course in the world without the participation of informed citizens?" has served as the stimulus for millions of Americans to meet in Great Decisions study groups since 1918. The study groups are for individuals who believe that "it takes more than the evening news to understand our changing world," and who desire to become informed, to become involved and to understand how world events affect their daily lives, said a spokesperson. Sponsored by the Foreign Policy Association, Great Decisions is the nation's oldest and largest nonpartisan public education program of its kind.

On Thursday, March 2 at 7 p.m. people interested in more information about the program are invited to meet at Twice upon a Time, the bookstore next to Heppner City Hall. At that meeting, briefing books will be available, and a schedule for the eight discussions will be planned.

The briefing book, which costs $11, contains articles that analyze eight topics of interest to Americans. Each article provides background, policy options for the U.S., recommended readings, discussion questions, illustrations and maps. Each article also includes an opinion ballot, which becomes part of the "National Opinion Ballot Report" presented to the White House, the departments of state and defense, members of Congress, and the national media.

Great Decisions topics this year are "Russia and Its Neighbors (U.S. policy choices)", "Nuclear Proliferation (Can it be capped?)", "United Nations at 50 (reaching out or overreaching?)", "Middle East (lasting steps to peace?)", "Global Finance (trade and capital influx?)", "China", "Taiwan", "Hong Kong (greater China challenge)", "Immigration (an end to open doors?)", and "Democratization (defining U.S. goals)".

Anyone with questions about the meeting may call Jane Rawlins 676-9435 or Dan or Doris Brosnan 676-5382.

Wheatland Pomona Grange meets

By Delpha Jones

Wheatland Pomona Grange met recently at the Lexington Grange Hall for the regular meeting with master Mike Medlock in the chair. Following the opening the Grange was lowered to the 4th degree to conduct the business of the day.

Medlock reported that he and his wife Aloha, had recently attended an officers meeting at Junction City. They said that Larry Campbell, former speaker of the House, gave a fine report. Many people don't realize that grangers work on many projects, both locally and state wide, that are helpful in many ways. The resolutions that begin at the local level are passed on Pomona level and are sent to the committees that can work on them.

The ag chairman gave a short report, and discussed the rainfall.

The G.W.A reported that Verla Larson, Dist. 3 G.W.A chairman, would like a conference in March and Spray Grange issued an invitation to meet there. The invitation was accepted by the body at a date which will be announced later. The youth report was interesting. Plans include a Junior Grange in the Spray area, which will include youth from five through 13. At the present time they have 26 youth interested. This group play is an important part at the session in June, with floor work and activities they are interested in.

Grange reports were most interesting. Spray had a dinner for all veterans in that area, gave Christmas boxes to the single people in their area and assisted with the forming of the Junior Grange.

Willows held their annual turkey dinner and bazaar and an installation of officers at their hall.

Lexington Grange had a Christmas meeting and reported that they gave articles to the Ron McDonald House. They have a G.W.A club organized with a meeting soon. Virginia Peck is the chairman of the group and Kathy Clark, secretary/treasurer.

Greenfield holds card parties once a week and had a nice installation of officers. A committee was appointed to make a portable display advertising the Grange so that it may be taken to the fairs in the area. Appointed were Aloha Medlock, Cheryl Smouse, Willard French and Eulanna Vaughn. Dinner was served by the Lexington Grange ladies. A cake walk was held followed by Dave Pranger, the Morrow County Weed Supervisor, showed slides and told of the noxious weeds in the area and ways to control them. Jerry George and his wife from Umatilla County were introduced. George is the chairman of the state ag committee
