Teacher Sue Norton (l) helps Kari Donahue with her headphones while Matt Wishart is being assisted by Tina Davidson at the Heppner Day Care.

Matt Wishart, six, and Kari Donahue, four, demonstrated the headphones that were donated to the Heppner Day Care center by Kinzua Corporation. The headphones were a part of an entire library center, which also includes books, couches, stories on tape, a record player, rug, bean bags and a table and chairs, that was donated by Kinzua Corp. as a part of their community grant program.

Missionary to speak at Life Center

The Reverend Jerry Gibson, Assemblies of God appointed missionary to Mexico, will be guest speaker at the Christian Life Center, Sun. March 12, at 11:30 a.m. according to Tim Van Cleave, Pastor. The church is located at 535 W. Morgan St.

Gibson and his wife, Gwen, have been pioneering a university campus ministry in Mexico City for the last three years. "We have found this to be a strategic time for ministry in students' lives as they search for answers amidst economic uncertainty and urban pressures common to large cities," says Reverend Gibson.

The Gibsons have returned to the United States to visit churches and give reports of their ministry. "The thrust of my services," Reverend Gibson says in regards to his missions presentation, "is to present the need of a young world and the commitment of this generation to reach it."

Ballots

tems. This tax asking is over $2 million down from a construction bond defeated last Sept.

The tax rate to fund these improvements will be $1.96 per thousand assessed valuation, which would amount to $98 for a homeowner with a $50,000 home; $980 on the owner of a $500,000 business; and $1,960 on a $1 million ranch. However, because of Ballot Measure 5, the tax for combined school operations will go down $2.50 per thousand. So, even if the bond passes, the combined tax rate for schools would go down 54 cents per thousand.

-Measure 25-13, a Willow Creek Park District bond for $975,000 to construct and equip a swimming pool in Heppner. The construction will cost 45 cents per thousand assessed valuation. A person with a $50,000 home will pay $22.50 per year; one with a $500,000 business will pay $225 a year; one with a $1 million ranch will pay $450 a year. This measure cannot pass unless a companion three-year serial levy for pool operating expenses also passes.

-Measure 25-14, a Willow Creek Park District three-year serial tax levy for pool operating expenses at $36,000 per year. The levy will cost 16 cents per thousand assessed valuation for three years. A person with a $50,000 home will pay $8 a year; one with a $500,000 business will pay $80 a year; one with a $1 million ranch will pay $160 a year. This measure cannot pass unless the $975,000 pool construction levy also passes.

The tax rate for the combined levies will be 61 cents per thousand. One with a $50,000 home will pay $30.50; one with a $500,000 business will pay $305; and one with a $1 million farm will pay $610.

Contested races on the ballot include:

-Port of Morrow director's position number 1. Deane Seeger, Morrow County planning director, Irrigon, John M. Grace, Inland Empire Bank branch manager, Boardman, and James Hankins, deputy sheriff, Boardman, are all vying for this position.

-Port of Morrow director's position number 3. Jerry Healey, Columbia Basin Electric Co-op office manager, Heppner, and Raymond Michael, pharmacist-owner of the Boardman Pharmacy and Hardware, Boardman, will compete for this position.

-Port of Morrow director's position number 5. Larry Lindsay, rancher, Lexington, and Terry Tallman, farmer, Boardman, both seek this position.

-Morrow County School District director position number 4. Tom McElligott, owner of Morrow County Abstract and Title, Heppner, and Russell Morgan, wildlife biologist with Oregon Department of Fish and Wildlife, are both up for this position.

John Edmundson (l) and Jim Wishart prepare for St. Pat's day by painting shamrocks on the sidewalk Monday. The shamrocks mark the way for the Volkswag. They are said to bring the 'luck of the Irish' to anyone who sees them as long as that person smiles at the next person they see and tell them to have a good day.
