Sunscreen Protection: Cancer and Premature Aging of Skin

The American Cancer Society stresses the fact that skin cancer is a preventable disease. A recent report in the journal U.S. Pharmacist indicates that 90 percent of the 200,000 cases of skin cancer that will be diagnosed this year "would not have occurred if persons had heeded rules about staying out of the sun and using sunscreens." Dr. Mark Naylor, a dermatologist at the University of Oklahoma, indicates that there is no doubt that sunscreens also reduce the risk of looking old prematurely. Dr. Naylor tells his patients that wrinkles and other signs of age are due to sunlight. Other comments from this skin specialist regarding sunscreen products are reported in a recent issue of American Pharmacy:

1. Sunscreens may sting when sweat washes them into your eyes. This is a minor irritation compared to getting skin cancer.
2. Sunscreens should be worn for all types of outdoor activities. Apply sunscreens to the face because the face is exposed to the elements all year long.
3. Men should apply sunscreens to the face after shaving instead of using an after-shave product. Women should apply sunscreens before putting on makeup. Protect babies and children. Sunburn during childhood is linked to skin cancer later in life.

Summer camp on health career choices June 19-23 at EOSC

The Northeast Oregon Area Health Education Center (AHEC) is offering a five day summer camp focusing on health career choices, June 19-23, at Eastern Oregon State College, La Grande.

The camp is for northeast Oregon students who will be entering the 9-12 grades, and are interested in learning more about health careers.

The camp program will include health career information, hands-on clinical skills, and opportunities to shadow health professionals. The cost of the camp is $195, which includes meals, housing and all activities.

Applications are available from school career counselors and the Northeast Oregon AHEC office. Completed applications, along with a $50 deposit, must be received in the Northeast Oregon AHEC office by May 1.

For more information, contact Northeast Oregon AHEC at 503-962-3801. The health careers camp is co-sponsored by Northeast Oregon AHEC and Eastern Oregon State College.

Day Care/Pre-school raise money for Muscular Dystrophy

The Heppner Day Care and pre-school held a Hop-A-Thon as a fund raiser for muscular dystrophy. Sixteen children participated, raising $569.30. The children earned T-shirts, canteens, and stickers for themselves. The total amount raised was enough for them to earn a parachute for the pre-school.
