Hostesses kidnap ladies

The Past Noble Grand Club of the Holly Lodge had an interesting day Saturday, when the hostesses "kidnapped" the ladies for a surprise luncheon. The ladies left Lexington and traveled to the West Winds Nursery near Hermiston, where they enjoyed the many lovely flowers, such as roses and lilies. The hostess presented each member with a lovely rosebud.

They returned through Hermiston, where they enjoyed a light supper before going home.

Those attending were Virginia Peck, Leila Palmer, Luella Taylor, Delpha Jones and the hostesses Geri Martin and Kathy Clark.

Weddings

Brazell — Roberts

Kathleen Brazell and James Roberts, both of Pendleton, were married April 1, 1995, in a double-ring ceremony at Pilot Rock Community Center. The Reverend Gary Nowell of Pendleton performed the ceremony.

The bride's parents are Al and Jean Brazell of Lexington. Roberts is the son of John and Rebecca Roberts of Pendleton. The bride given in marriage by her father, wore a tea-length gown of white satin with lace overlay and jeweled cape. The fingertip veil featured a floral wreath and blusher. She carried a cascading bouquet of white and ivory roses, accented with baby's breath and ivy.

The groom and best man wore tuxedo suits of black Pendleton wool, and silk vests of royal blue and green, all fashioned by the bride's mother. Maid of honor was Lynette Kleespies of Dallas and best man was Stuart Roberts of Pendleton.

The maid of honor wore a western style, royal blue dress. Ushers were Chad and Michael Roberts, brothers of the groom, and Brian Brazell, brother of the bride. They wore silver and black striped silk vests fashioned by the bride's mother and black slacks and ties.

Large bouquets featuring white and pink lillies, designed by the bride's uncle, Ralph Martin of Durham, were placed on straw bales with western saddles and boots. A special altar piece was woven by members of the Bethpage Mission for the occasion.

A three-tiered cake was surrounded by four horseshoe cakes and decorated with red roses, horses, horseshoes and rope designs. Grandmothers of the groom cut the cake and Diane Brazell, sister-in-law of the bride, poured punch. Coffee and tea were served by Ruth Parm of Lexington, and an aunt of the groom.

A reception at the Community Center followed the ceremony. The bride attended Western Oregon State College, Monmouth. The bridegroom graduated from WOSC in 1990. He works for Bethpage Mission Pacific in Pendleton.

After a wedding trip to Colorado and Wyoming, the couple live in Pendleton.
