

Papineau rides off as spring's top jockey

By PAUL LINDBERG
Herald staff writer

Track announcer Tracy Barker couldn't have said it better. As jockey Cammie Papineau rode into the winner's circle at Sun Downs for the fifth time Sunday, Barker's voice boomed over the loudspeakers: "And here is your winning jockey, red-hot Cammie Papineau!"

Papineau's outstanding performance, which was highlighted by riding A Royal Coup to victory in the $31,914 Budweiser Pot O' Gold Futurity in Sunday's ninth race, earned her the No. 1 jockey spot with 98 points.

This spring, Papineau finished first 28.8 percent in 73 races and finished in the top three 60.3 percent of the time.

"It's been a long day," was all Papineau would offer, sporting a huge grin as she retired to the jockey room to clean a day's worth of dirt from her clothes.

Two races earlier, Papineau, aboard A Royal Coup in the big race of the five-week spring meet at Sun Downs, outlasted Purrrfect First Down and jockey John Worley to claim $12,425 of the purse.

A Royal Coup trailed Purrrfect First Down by three-quarters of a length halfway through the 300-yard Futurity, but he made up for the distance quickly and ended up winning by half a length.

"He got a good jump, and about halfway there I uncorked my stick," Papineau said. "He just hit another gear."

A Royal Coup (4) crosses the finish line ahead of Purrrfect First Down (1) to win Sunday's Pot O' Gold Futurity at Sun Downs in Kennewick. The winning jockey, Cammie Papineau, took first in 28.8 percent of her races this spring.

Abigail Kawananakoa, owner of A Royal Coup, was one of the 1,423 in attendance Sunday. It was the first time Kawananakoa had seen A Royal Coup run.

"He's beautiful," said Kawananakoa. "This is only his second race and I missed his trial because I missed my plane from California."

The 10 horses in the Futurity qualified in five trials April 22 at Sun Downs. Spunkys Billy Dean, which finished third, was the top qualifier. A Royal Coup was sixth.

Kawananakoa said there was no way she was going to miss Sunday's race.

"I had to make it no matter what, so I came yesterday," she said. "He's really showing a lot of promise. I am quite excited right now."

And the owner had nothing but praise for Papineau.

"Cammie won that race for me," Kawananakoa said. "She really knows how to push a horse."

Papineau's winning ways started in the fourth race, where she road red-hot Honest Cal to victory. Honest Cal had won three in a row.

Papineau also won the fifth aboard

Just Be Mine, the seventh with First Down Dance, and the 10th on Beduinos Caper.

Also honored Sunday was trainer Lin Melton, who emerged as the spring's top trainer. Melton edged Gary Yarbrough by one point. If Yarbrough's entry in the 10th — Harley Who — had finished third, the two trainers would have tied. Instead, Harley Who was eighth.

A handle of $67,431 was wagered on the final day of the spring meet. Racing continues this fall with a three-week meet Sept. 16-Oct. 1.
