The Heppner High Varsity Cheerleaders will attend a National Cheerleaders Association (NCA) Cheerleading camp this summer in Eugene from Aug. 1-4.

The HHS Cheerleaders are: Jayme Hansen, Sherri Sieler, Traci Dickenson, Cimmie Huth, Stormy Howard, Mandi Gutierrez, Stephanie Johnson and Toni Kemp. Their advisor is Jolynn Britt.

This summer, there are more than 850 NCA high school/collegiate cheer camps and NCA DANZ high school/collegiate camps, in addition to private, metro and youth camps conducted across the United States.

The Dallas-based NCA has offered cheerleading camps for the past 47 years. NCA camps offer customized instruction, the latest in cheerleading moves with a focus on the development of personal skills and crowd development techniques. NCA also offers training to advisors and coaches that includes coaching techniques and technical knowledge in a variety of areas.

NCA also teaches a comprehensive safety program and adheres to the National Federation Safety Guidelines. New material is taught each year that is innovative and crowd-pleasing and is presented by the nation's best cheerleading choreographers, said a NCA news release.

NCA conducts the following types of camps: junior high, high school and college, resident, commuter, private, Christian and All-Star, in addition to mascot and junior cheer camps.

Founded in 1948, NCA is the original and the world's largest privately-owned cheerleading company. NCA annually trains and outfits almost 200,000 spiritleaders at summer camps and special events held nationwide, said the news release. NCA, Cheerleader & Danz Team and NCA SuperCenters are National Spirit Group, Ltd., divisions.

Museum project meeting slated

A meeting to discuss plans for the proposed Morrow County museum project will be held Wednesday, August 9, at the museum.

Museum director Marsha Sweet encourages community members to attend and give their input on the focus and direction of the proposed project.

Jr. cheerleading camp planned

A junior cheerleading camp will be held Saturday, August 5, from 9 a.m. to noon at the Heppner High School gym.

The camp is open to children six to 12 years old at a cost of $10 per child with a $20 maximum cost to each family.

Those attending the camp will learn cheers, chants and stunts.

Proceeds from the camp will go toward uniforms for the Heppner High School cheerleaders.

Those attending need a signed parental release form.

For more information, call 676-9811.

ODFW reminds hunters of deadline

All hunters who were successful in the 1995 Big Game Controlled Hunt drawing are reminded that they must purchase their tags on or before July 31.

Tags must be purchased at Point of Sale (POS) license vendors or by mail or fax to ODFW's Portland office. Local POS agents are Coast to Coast Hardware in Heppner, Fossil Hardware in Fossil and M&A Auto Parts in Condon. Instructions for purchasing by mail or fax can be found on page three of ODFW's 1995 Oregon Big Game Regulations.

All controlled hunt deer and elk tags that are not purchased by the deadline date will be returned to the pool of tags made available to applicants in the second drawing. Bighorn sheep tags and tags for any controlled hunts beginning prior to September 1 will be made available to hunters on a priority list from the first drawing.

Applicants successful in drawing Landowner Preference (LOP) tags also must purchase their tags by the deadline or reapply for them in the second drawing.

Information on leftover and unanticipated tags available in the second drawing will be released around August 5 and hunters can apply for them until September 1. Results of the second drawing will be available September 15.

Annie Hisler places well at Falon, Nevada rodeo

Annie Hisler of Heppner came out of the Silver State International high school rodeo looking pretty darned good.

The 15 year-old Heppner High School sophomore captured third place in all around, took fourth place average overall in barrels and poles and took fourth in the second go-round in barrels.

In the short go, Annie went into the finals fourth in poles and second in barrels and came out fourth in both.

Over 300 high school kids, in 14 different teams competed in 600 entries. She was among 35 kids from Oregon. High School contestants ending up in fifth through eighth place state-wide were eligible to compete at Falon.

Annie and her mother, Susie, attribute Annie's success to "consistency and staying focused".

Justin Matteson of Heppner and Katie McCain of Condon combined for sixth place in the first go-round in team roping.

Annie had a pretty grueling schedule immediately prior to the Falon rodeo, traveling with Susie's sister, Janice Davis, to rodeos at St. Paul, Molalla, Toppish and Vancouver be-

Annie was sponsored by Van Marter and Kahl Insurance, Morrow County Abstract and Title and the Wrangler's Riding Club.

Regional jail sites to be explored

The five counties of Morrow, Wasco, Sherman, Gilliam and Wheeler have formed a consortium, Northern Oregon Regional Correctional Facility (NORCOR) to pursue the building of a regional jail.

Proposed sites for the jail have been submitted from Morrow, Wasco and Sherman counties. On August 14, a site selection team will visit the proposed sites to make a recommendation as to where the jail should be built.

Following is a tentative itinerary: 9 a.m.-siting team will meet at the Wasco County Courthouse and travel to the proposed Wasco County site; 11 a.m.-travel to Rufus to view that site; noon-1 p.m.-lunch at Rufus; 1 p.m.-travel to Irrigon to review that site (meet at Irrigon City Hall); 6 p.m.-meet at Dodge City Inn in Boardman to consider and select a site.

For more information, contact Gilliam County Judge Laura Pryor, NORCOR Board chair, 384-6351.

Coca-Cola recognizes Jenny Krein

Pendleton Coca-Cola Bottlers officially recognized Jenny Krein of Heppner as a winner of a $20,000 scholarship from the Coca-Cola Scholars Foundation on Friday, July 21.

The Coca-Cola Scholars Foundation annually awards 50 $20,000 scholarships and 100 $4,000 scholarships. Applicants are judged on their scholarship and school and community activities. Krein was selected from over 250,000 applicants nationwide. She is the daughter of Bob and Joy Krein, Heppner.

Lone coach, player participate in state all-star match

Lone High School volleyball coach Charity McElligott and lone player Mary Jane McCarty participated in this year's State All Star Volleyball Match held Saturday, July 15, at David Douglas High School in Portland. The match was sponsored by Mizuno Athletic Wear.

McElligott, coach of the lone IA state champions, coached the Mizuno Blue Team, along with Mary Stevenson of Pleasant Hill, the third place 3A team.

The Mizuno Black Team was coached by Jim Stults of LaSalle, this year's 3A state champions, and Cyd McCormick of Neah-Kah-Nie, the state 2A champions.

The match began at 6 p.m. and lasted two hours, with the Mizuno Blue Team emerging as victors in the best three out of five, 15-10, 11-15, 15-8 and 15-10.

McCarty helped pace her team to the victory with her consistent set assists and serving, said McElligott. She was able to put the game away after the Blue Team went three rotations at game point. McCarty's game point serve earned her a mention in The Oregonian. "Mary Jane had a real good time at the match and was impressed with the quality of players she played with," said McElligott.

The players, all graduating seniors, are picked from the list of all-star selections at the state level from 3A, 2A and 1A schools.

The coaches selected for the match pick the girls who will compete. After the girls accept, the teams are determined. The Mizuno Blue Team featured all but one of the Eastern Oregon girls selected. "It almost felt like East vs. West, and the West won," said McElligott.

"It was so exciting to coach at that level," McElligott added. "Almost everyone there will be playing college level this fall. It was a lot of fun and was played just for fun. But, it's almost like winning another state title."
