

Bucknum's tavern sold

There will be new owners at Bucknum's in the near future.

Jana and Ray Musgrove will take over operations from current owners, Doug and Kathleen Lowe, on Sept. 1.

Jana (or Jana Lee as the locals call her), 42, grew up in Heppner. She moved away, but returned in October 1992, and moved back permanently in Jan. of 1993. Her parents are Bill and Dorothy Scott of Heppner. Jana is no stranger to restaurant and bar work, starting out at 15 years old waiting tables at Cal's Restaurant. When she turned 21 she began tending bar, keeping the books and doing "just about everything" at Cal's. Over the years she also worked in retail, sold real estate and even worked on the Alaskan oil spill. She has also worked at Bud's Pud and Bucknum's previously.

The Lowes are excited about the Musgroves' purchase of the tavern. "She's an excellent cook," said Kathleen Lowe. "The food will be just as good or better. She definitely knows her way around the kitchen."

Jana has two children, Nicole Apperson, Prinveville, and Timberly Phegley, who is in the Air Force at Hill Air Force Base in Utah, and two grandchildren, Nicole's daughters, Jasey, 3½, and Jenay, two months.

Ray Musgrove, 44, is from East Wenatchee, Washington. He is a construction worker, specializing as a "powder man", working with explosives. He plans to continue working in construction, but hopes to try to stay more local in his jobs. He came to Heppner in Jan. 1993.

The Musgroves hope to expand the hours soon to include breakfast at Bucknum's, opening at 6 a.m. to offer ham, bacon or sausage and eggs and biscuits and gravy. Their goal within a year is to put in a full service kitchen. "Everything will be the same," said Jana, "but more food will be added." They also plan on doing some painting.

"We're all going to miss Doug and Kathleen," added Jana. "They've done a very fine job."

"We appreciate the community for their support over the years," added Doug. The Lowes bought Bucknum's in June of 1981.

Doug and Kathleen, along with their children, Travis, 12, Trent, 10, and Caitlin, 7, plan to move to LaGrande, where Kathleen is completing her post-graduate work. She has one more year of school in order to become a nurse practitioner.

A registered nurse with a master's degree in community health nursing, Kathleen has taught for the Oregon Health Sciences University School of Nursing at Eastern Oregon State College in LaGrande for the past three years. She will be starting her fourth year supervising clinical experience with the Rural Frontier Delivery program, which is an off campus baccalaureate program for nurses. She also worked as a nurse at Pioneer Memorial Hospital in Heppner for nine years.

Doug, who worked in the logging business for a time during their ownership of Bucknum's, plans to look for a job in LaGrande.

Ione residents walk in memory of Jason

A group of 39 people from Ione traveled to Portland to walk in "The Human Race". The August 6 walk took place on Waterfront Park and was designed to raise money for a variety of agencies in the Portland area.

Organizing participation in the walk has become an annual event for Ione Youth Group in memory of their friend, Jason Halvorsen, who was an active member of the group for several years. All money collected by the Ione residents is donated every year to Outreach Ministry of Burnside. The group raised over $1,800 this year.

Participating in this year's walk were: Laurel Cannon, Betty Reitman, Betty Gray, Don

Bristow, Jannie Allen, Jeri McElligott, Cathy Halvorsen, Lorie Sullivan, Debbie Morgan, Jim Swanson, Monica Swanson, Anita Orem, Ryan Halvorsen, Alison Sullivan, Jessie Stefani, Bridget McElligott, Lyndee Minster, Becky Wagenblast, Melissa McElligott, John

Doherty, Luke Swanson, Jory Crowell, Kelly Morgan, Steve Allen, Nick Nelson, Jake McElligott, Jenny Sullivan, Katie Garrett, Niki Sullivan, Tori Odinet, Mark McElligott, Nikki McElligott, Korey Morgan, Allison Halvorsen, Charissa Gates, Adrienne Swanson, Elizabeth Allen, Caitlin Orem and Zack Orem.

ODFW plans elk meetings

The Oregon Department of Fish and Wildlife (ODFW) will hold two public informational meetings focusing on discussion of ODFW staff proposals for changes in Rocky Mountain bull elk hunting strategies in northeast Oregon.

The meetings are scheduled for August 22 at 7:30 p.m. at the Spray Grange located on Kahler Basin Road and August 29 at 7:30 p.m. at the Heppner Elementary School located at 235 E. Stansbury Street.

Under the elk plan adopted by the Fish and Wildlife Commission, ODFW's goal is to achieve and maintain desired bull/cow ratios in big game management units. Almost all units in northeast Oregon are below their adopted management objectives for bulls, said an ODFW news release.

ODFW's proposals, if adopted by the commission, will result in changes in bull hunting regulations beginning in 1996. The proposals retain the two elk hunting seasons leaving the first season limited entry and the second general season. Staff recommendations incorporate several strategies with some units being complete limited entry while others would rely largely on spike only hunting.

Tim Coe opens new wood craft shop

Tim Coe (back) presents (l-r) Jennifer Hughes, Bebe Munkers and LaRae Kindle with door prizes from his new shop 'The Woodshed'.

By April Hilton-Sykes

If you come, he will build it. Tim Coe has opened a wood craft shop, "The Woodshed", in downtown Heppner, at 178 West Willow.

Coe, who located his new business next to "Twice Upon a Time", has a myriad of wooden articles on display—plant stands, boxes, flower planters, children's furniture, bed frames, rocking horses, lawn swings, lawn furniture, book shelves, knick-knack shelves and sophisticated toys, including monster trucks, toy tractors and combines.

Coe also welcomes special orders. "If it can be designed, it can be built," says Coe. "I'll build just about anything." He once built a three-story house and shop to scale and also builds dressers.

Anyone interested in making a special order may stop by the shop and Doris Brosnan, who owns "Twice Upon a Time", will take the information, or they may call Coe at home, 676-9851.

Coe has been working with wood since high school, but has really put a lot of time into it the past 10 years. In addition to his woodworking business, Coe also works for Kinzua Resources.

"The Woodshed" opened for business July 8 and held its grand opening Aug. 12. Coe's sister, Sharon Drennan, Portland, came to Heppner the past two weekends to help him get organized.

Store hours are Tuesday through Friday, 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. and Saturday, 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday hours may expand later.

Lutherans to hold church service

Are you looking for something to do this weekend? Members and friends of the Hope-Valby Lutheran Parish welcome you to attend services at one of the two Lutheran churches in south Morrow County, said Rev. Stan Hoobing.

Rev. Stan Hoobing will deliver the sermon entitled "Faith Is What Counts!" based on scripture reading of Genesis 15:1-6. There will be prayer, praise and fellowship at both services followed by coffee and visiting.

Worship service at Valby Lutheran Church located on the Ione-Gooseberry Road, begins at 9 a.m. Service at Hope Lutheran Church in Heppner begins at 11 a.m.

Everyone is invited to attend either service.
