CBEC adds drop box at Heppner

The Columbia Basin Electric Company (CBEC) office in Heppner has added an additional convenience for their customers-the office now has an outside pay station.

"As always, we welcome those who desire to come into the office and say 'hello' or conduct their business in person, but if the weather is bad or if it is difficult for them to come into the office, they can make payments directly from their car," said CBEC manager Fred Toombs. Toombs said CBEC plans to see how the new station works out. If it works well, he said, CBEC will provide the same thing at the Condon office in the future.

CBEC requests that cash payments not be made in this station. Those with cash payments are asked to come in the office so they can receive a receipt upon payment.
