Evans, Baker honored at conference

Glayla Baker (l) and Susan Evans

Glayla Baker, Boardman, and Susan Evans, Heppner, were among those who were honored at the seventh annual Oregon State University (OSU) Extension Volunteers-In Partnership (VIP) conference and awards banquet held in Bend.

Thirty-one volunteers from 16 different counties were distinguished during the awards banquet for serving anywhere from two to over 40 years with OSU Extension Service.

"Glayla Baker's volunteer commitments have been tremendous," said Bill Broderick, Morrow County Extension agent. "Baker has been a leader for six years. She has worked with the entire 4-H program including serving as 4-H Leaders Council president, Tri-County 4-H Camp nurse, Snack Shack coordinator, in addition to leading numerous other 4-H activities."

Evans has led a 4-H sheep club with about 34 members for nine years. "In this process, she has developed an expectation for excellence and then has worked with her members to achieve that very high standard," said Broderick. "Evans has also been very involved with the Leaders Council. She serves as treasurer and has chaired many committees."

Ione students named Blazer-Avia essay contest winners

Three Ione Elementary students, Cameron Krebs, Meghan McCabe and Alyssa Rietmann, were selected as first place regional winners in the Blazer-Avia essay contest. This year's topic was "What I Like About Myself".

The students competed with students in Morrow and Umatilla counties. The winning essays will compete in the state competition.

Krebs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clint Krebs, was first place winner in the fifth grade division.

McCabe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ashley McCabe, won first place in the fourth grade competition. Rietmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brian Rietmann, was the first place winner in the third grade competition.

The students were awarded Blazer pen and pencil sets by Diana Kincaid, the Talented and Gifted coordinator, in an assembly. The purpose of the contest is to encourage and reward good writing skills.
