

4-H members named ambassadors Student wins R & W design contest

More than 80 4-H members have been selected for the 1996 4-H Ambassador program. Mandi Gutierrez and Josie Proctor were selected from the Heppner area.

The ambassadors will promote the Oregon State University (OSU) Extension 4-H program and participate in a variety of state, county and local activities, according to Duane Johnson OSU Extension 4-H youth development specialist.

Activities include giving talks about 4-H to community groups, setting up 4-H displays in stores and shopping centers, promoting 4-H activities on radio and television talk shows and recruiting new members. In addition, the ambassadors train 4-H leaders and members and provide leadership for 4-H educational programs at the county and state level.

The new ambassadors will learn more about their responsibilities at the 4-H Ambassador Weekend, June 21-22 at Linfield College in McMinnville. The weekend, sponsored by Oregon Farm Credit System, will include classes on life skill development, workforce preparation and citizenship, Johnson said.

The ambassadors were chosen on the basis of their 4-H resume, which includes a summary of their 4-H work and community and school activities. Some of the ambassadors will be interviewed for trips to the 1996 National 4-H Youth Congress in Memphis, Tennessee later this year.

Sibbea Jones (center) with Alex and Patty Rystedt

A new sign was needed at the R & W Drive In of Heppner because of the change in ownership. The new owners and managers, Alex and Patty Rystedt and Scott and Carol Hollis, asked students at Heppner Elementary School to participate in a contest to provide a new design for the business' main sign. Sibbea Jones, sixth grade daughter of Elizabeth Jones of Heppner, developed the winning design.

First prize was dinner at the R & W and "the satisfaction of seeing one's work at the business." The Coca-Cola Company used Sibbea's design as the basis for the new sign now to be seen across the front of the business.

In the Service

Army National Guard Pfc. Teruo (Terry) Chinen has completed training at the U.S. Army Infantry School at Fort Benning, Georgia.

During the course, students received training which qualified them as light-weapons infantrymen and as indirect-fire crewmen in a rifle or mortar squad.

Instruction included weapons qualifications, tactics, patrolling, land mine warfare, field communications and combat operations.

Chinen is the son of Kathleen Chinen of Heppner and Teruo Chinen, Sr., of Spokane, Washington. He graduated in 1990 from Heppner High School and received an associate degree in 1995 from Blue Mountain Community College.

Medical missionary to speak at LBC

Deborah Gibbs, a pharmacist and missionary for the Conservative Baptist International missionary organization in Rwanda, Zaire, Africa, will be telling about her work at the missionary hospital in Zaire, Sunday, April 28, at the Lexington Baptist Church.

Gibbs will be speaking, showing a video and telling about her work and ministry during both the Sunday School hour at 9:45 a.m., and during the regular worship service at 11 a.m.

Gibbs is a native of Portland and received her degree in pharmacy from Oregon State University. She also took graduate studies at Multnomah Bible College in Portland and has now finished her first term as a full-time missionary.

Rwanguba is located 50 miles from Goma, Zaire, where many of the refugees from Rwanda have fled to. Gibbs is one of only a small number of pharmacists in the entire country of Zaire.

Everyone is invited to come hear about Gibbs life and work in Africa.

Local student named to honor society

The University of Idaho chapter of Beta Gamma Sigma, business and management honorary society, has honored 21 students with membership.

The new members include Brent Sheirbon, a senior information systems major. He is the son of Bill and Deborah Sheirbon, Lexington.

To be eligible, students must be in the top 10 percent of the senior class and the top seven percent of the junior class academically.

Country Club plans barbecue

The Willow Creek Country Club will have a family barbecue on Sunday, April 28 at 4 p.m.

Each family will bring their own meat to the barbecue. Those whose names begin with "A" through "T" should bring salad, "J" through "Z" should bring dessert.

John and Pat Edmundson, Louis and Alene Rucker, Jim and Cam Wishart, and Ray and Norma French will host the barbecue.

Adopt A Pet Day set April 27 Plant exchange set for May 4

Pioneer Humane Society (PHS) will hold its first 1996 "Adopt A Pet Day" at the west parking lot of the Pendleton Grain Growers store in Pendleton (across from Albertson's Food Center), from 10 a.m.-3 p.m. on Saturday, April 27.

People who have been sheltering stray animals for the society are asked to make arrangements to have them there (caged or on a leash) by starting time or before.

People who have registered their own pets with the society by the close of business, Friday, April 26, may also bring their animals. A donation is expected for this service and the animal must be supervised and removed at day's end, if not adopted.

"Until the society is able to erect its proposed shelter, these monthly 'Adopt A Pet Day' events are the best opportunities for the public to view and choose pets from the society's listings. Everyone interested in adopting, or in the shelter, is urged to come," said Rose Hoosier, PHS member.

Society board members and volunteers will be on hand to discuss the plans and location of the proposed shelter, as well as to accept donations toward the matching fund needed to acquire grant money with which to build.

The Heppner Garden Club will sponsor their annual Town Plant Exchange and gardener's clinic Saturday, May 4, from 9 a.m.-3 p.m. in the St. Patrick's Senior Center dining room.

All local gardeners are invited to bring plants to exchange with other gardeners. Everything is for exchange; nothing for sale. This includes plants of all types, pips, corms, bulbs, roots and tubers.

Local Mastergardeners will also be on hand to answer questions and talk gardening. Coffee and cookies will be available.
