

BMCC Health Fair slated for May 22

Get set for a healthful summer at the second annual Blue Mountain Community College (BMCC) Health Fair. The Wellness Committee will host the Health Fair on Wednesday, May 22, from 9 a.m.-2 p.m. in the McCrae Activity Center on the BMCC campus in Pendleton. The public is encouraged to take part in the blood screening and other activities.

Twenty health-related agencies, organizations and businesses have already agreed to participate in the fair. Activities vary from fitness and percent body fat assessments, to massages and healthful foods, to blood pressure checks and blood screenings.

Three different blood screenings will be conducted by Interpath Labs. Participants have a choice of screenings: cholesterol check-provides a good cholesterol reference number, $10; cardiac risk panel-includes cholesterol, HDL, LDL, VLDL, triglycerides, cholesterol/HDL ratio, $15; and health fair profile-includes the cardiac risk panel and 16 other blood chemistry tests, glucose, liver, enzymes, protein and electrolyte levels, $20.

Anyone planning to participate in the Interpath Labs screenings needs to fast for 12 hours prior to having their blood drawn. Water and usual medications are okay to take. Appointments are recommended. This can be done by calling 276-1260, ext. 5896. These screenings will be held in the McCrae Activity Center mezzanine from 8 a.m.-noon. The follow-up session will be held Friday, May 31, at noon in the Pioneer Hall Theater.

For more information on the Health Fair, call Martha Yakovlev, Health and Physical Education department chair, at 276-1260, ext.-5898.

BEO scholarship winners announced

Jossie Evans

Jossie Evans, Brian McElligott, Brad Lathrop and Zane Wilson have been selected as this year's winners of the Bank of Eastern Oregon Agriculture/Business Scholarship. This marks the third year the $500 awards have been given to area graduating seniors.

Scholarship applicants must plan to major in an agriculture or business related field. Judging criteria includes scholarship, leadership and citizenship, as well as an essay, "What is the major problem facing agriculture/the U.S. economy in the 1990s?" No entries were received from lone or Arlington students, said a bank spokesperson.

Jossie Evans, Heppner High School, has been active in sports, FFA, 4-H and class offices. The daughter of Monte and Becky Evans of Heppner, Jossie plans to attend Blue Mountain Community College and then the University of Idaho to obtain a bachelor's degree in agriculture production. She says she hopes to return to Morrow County.

Brian McElligott of Condon High School has been very active in sports, FFA, 4-H and band, as well as the school's store and radio station. McElligott plans to attend the University of Portland to obtain a bachelor's degree in business management and work in a sports-related field, or may possibly start his own business following college. He is the son of Pete and Nancy McElligott of lone.

Brad Lathrop of Condon High School has been active in student government, FFA, sports, 4-H and has been selected salutatorian of his graduating class. Lathrop will attend Eastern Oregon State College for two years, majoring in wildlife science. He then plans to transfer to Oregon State University's School of Agriculture to finish his degree. Following college, he hopes to work for the Oregon Department of Fish & Wildlife as a wildlife biologist. He is the son of Allen and Dawn Lathrop of Condon.

Zane Wilson, a senior at Wheeler County High School in Fossil, has been active in high school government, 4-H and sports and has been named valedictorian of his class. Wilson plans to attend Eastern Oregon State College, majoring in agricultural business management. Following college, he would like to work in an agricultural-related business and later return to the family ranch. He is the son of Philip and Nancy Wilson of Fossil.

"The bank is pleased to be able to continue supporting continuing education in these two professional fields that are of great economic importance to our area," said bank President George Koffler.

St. Pat's youth have first communion

Katie Britt, Matt Kenny, Laurie Murray, Roy Proctor and Robert Worden received their first Holy Communion with their St. Patrick Catholic Church families and friends on April 28.

For several months, Pam Worden had helped the youngsters prepare for this day. On Sunday, the Folk Group led the singing for the special celebration, and the Altar Society sponsored the reception afterward.

Wheatland Pomona Grange meets

By Delpha Jones

Wheatland Pomona Grange was called to order by Master Mike Medlock at the regular meeting in Spray on Saturday. Distinguished guests introduced were Mary Lu Trott, district #2 membership chairman, and her husband Ed Trott, district #2 deputy, Multnomah County.

The meeting was lowered to the fourth degree for the business of the day. Resolutions committee appointed the following: Clarence Buchanan, Bobbi Jo Medlock, Bob Hannack and Willard French. The ag chairman was not present so the report was a discussion on the various projects that concern the farmer.

G.W.A. chairman Bobbi Jo Medlock reported that several had attended the G.W.A. conference recently held at Greenfield Grange. The Grange saves old eyeglasses, tabs from cans, hearing aid batteries and old nylon stockings, which can all be used for the many projects that they support. Bobbi Jo reported that she had received only two reports, from Willows and Greenfield. Each G.W.A. club is supposed to send in the reports to the chairman, who, in turn, sends them on to the state.

The youth committee reported that it is time to plan the articles for the goodie baskets for the State Grange. Spray Grange had held the annual auction and did well. They will start enlarging the hall as soon as the survey of property boundaries are complete.

Lexington Grange has finished one side of the roof and hopes to be able to finish the remainder soon. Willows Grange has had all their meetings and has graveled the driveway.

Discussion was held on the measures to be voted on. A resolution concerning hunting bear and cougar with dogs was read and it was noted that there is a petition circulating concerning this. Resolution #2 concerned pre-payment of Oregon State Grange annual convention expenses; #3, the district's alternate hosting the convention; #4, optional memorial service for subordinate and Pomona; and #5, thanks to Spray Grange for their dinner and hospitality. There was much concern about the clean water bill that will affect all farmers and many other groups. Members should read information on this and pay much attention to effects on Eastern Oregon cattle and wheat growers. These resolutions were all accepted by the grange as a body.

Lunch was enjoyed, after which the program consisted of the junior Grange giving the obligation to their order and opening of the youth meetings. The adults taking the degree at this time were: Dot Halvorsen, Wilma Martin, Ann Culver, Delpha Jones, Ed Trott, Mary Lu Trott, Mark Miller, Connie Perkins, Willard French, Beth Reed, and associate members Linda Miller, Suzie Gardner and Marge Davis.

A reading was given by Delpha Jones and Mike Medlock recited a poem he had learned many years ago which fit in well with the measure concerning the clean water act, said a Grange spokesperson.

The cake walk was held after the junior presentation, followed by the closing of the Grange.

Roll call was as follows: Willows 4, Spray 8, Lexington 6. The next meeting will be held at the Greenfield Grange, possibly at the marina. This meeting will be the Memorial for the departed members of all subordinate granges in the district.
