Heppner students try out new computers

By Lonnie Rill
Heppner High School has gone through some dramatic changes over the summer. The school was stocked with new computers and word processors. This made it harder for people to learn how to use the new ones since they were familiar with the older ones. Although the new software does help in some ways it has been a hassle keeping up with the modern technology. Some of the new attractions are the easy access to the Internet and Web. This makes easier to contact people from distances without using a phone or a letter.

Morrow County Historical Society holds meeting

By Delpha Jones

The annual meeting of the Morrow County Historical Society was held on Sunday, Sept. 29, at the Lexington Grange Hall.

The meeting started with a potluck turkey dinner. The tables were decorated with a Halloween motif with orange tablecloths, flower arrangements and gourds.

Marlene Grey of Ione was chairman of the decorating and Barbara Bloodworth was chairman of the kitchen. Don Eppenbaugh gave the opening prayer and Clarence Buchanan led in the flag salute. In the absence of secretary Ruth McCabe, Barbara Bloodworth filled the chair.

President Delpha Jones thanked the workers of the past year, especially Wilbur Jackson and a crew of young helpers for all the work at the Groshen fountain, and Green and Feed for their cooperation.

It was reported that the trip to Isaquah, WA., this summer was interesting, and plans are being made for the 1997 trip.

The new Chronicles are on sale and are available at Murray Drugs, the local banks and from Society members. These are printed annually by a hard-working committee who do appreciate stories from the area.

Kathryn Hoskins introduced Jack Evans, professor emeritus of Eastern Oregon State College in La Grande, who spoke on genealogy and answered questions.

A gift for the person coming the farthest was given to Don Campbell from Texas.

Special music was furnished by Don Eppenbaugh and Lavelle Partlow, followed by a piano solo by Lavelle.

A report was given by the president thanking the county court and road crew for the assistance the past year.

A project for the coming year will be a few work days of volunteer labor to straighten some of the stones in the cemeteries, which are falling over. Many of these are from families no longer in the area. A donation has been made to the memorial fund to assist with this project.

Marsha Sweek gave a report on the museum, stating they had received a gift from the Woods family who have moved to the Willamette Valley area.

Jean Nelson reported there was no Century Farms for 1996, but says she hopes there will be in 1997.

An election of three-year directors was held, with Pat Wright, Don Eppenbaugh, Harold Peck and Ruth McCabe elected.

Several door prizes, furnished by the board of directors, were given.

Jean Nelson gave a short report on the kiosk at Well Spring and told of some new developments in that area.

Attendance was good, with several attendees from outside the area.
