Rebekahs, Odd Fellows meet

By Delpha Jones
The McNary District of the Rebekah and Odd Fellow lodges had their annual meeting on Saturday at Milton-Freewater. Several were initiated during the morning session. The regular business was conducted during the afternoon session, with chairman Betty Schubert in the chair. State President Susan Walgammott gave an instructive talk on the order, speaking of the many projects being sponsored-the chair for eye research at Johns Hopkins University, the arthritis fund, friendship to help members financially when in need, and other interesting topics. Several other state officers were present, including past president Vickie Beaver, now state secretary. A memorial was given by Sunbeam Lodge, and a tribute to the past chairman, Holly Lodge.

Election and appointment of officers was held, with Freda Wolverton of Sunbeam Lodge and Marguerite Manaritz as vice chairman. Virginia Peck of Holly was appointed conductor, Marlene Grey, chaplain, and Delpha Jones, LSV. A dinner was served at noon by host lodge Integrity. Those present from Holly and Lexington Odd Fellows were Clarence Buchanan, Cecil and Delpha Jones, Kathy Clark and Virginia Peck. Kathy Clark was altar bearer for this session.
