

Mustang JV girls defeated by Umatilla

by Molly Rhea
The Heppner Mustang JV girls forfeited a first half lead to lose to the varsity-laced Umatilla Viking JVs, 26-35.
The game was a slow starter with the score at the end of one quarter 4-0, all Heppner. The Vikings found themselves in bonus within 30 seconds in the second quarter. The Mustangs led at the half 13-8.
In the third quarter the Vikings were able to capitalize on multiple Mustang turnovers and Heppner was held to a single freethrow to trail 14-17 at the end of three. Umatilla should have hollered "Fire in the Hole!" as they upped the intensity in the fourth quarter, for the young Heppner team was unable to handle the tenacious defense and ended up losing, 26-35.

Kathleen Greenup led all scorers with nine. She also pulled down seven rebounds and gained a steal and an assist. Amy Papineau made eight points, scooped three boards and had a steal. Ashley Ropp had four points and a steal. Trisha Adams had two points along with two rebounds and an assist. Julie Watkins had one point, five rebounds and two steals, while Macy Rhea and Alea Strouse each scored one and each had one rebound. Kim Pointer captured four steals and five boards.

While the Mustangs never got into a bonus situation, they were unable to profit from the rough Vikings that hacked themselves into the two shot bonus both halves. Of the 31 times the Heppner girls went to the line, they were able to convert only 12 points.
The JV Mustang girls plan to improve their 4-5 win-loss ratio this weekend with both games at home. Friday's action starts at 3 p.m. January 17 against the Pilot Rock Rockets. Saturday's tip off is 1 p.m. January 18 with the young Mustangs matching up with the Wahtonka E-gals.

ODFW meeting set for Jan. 22

The Oregon Department of Fish and Wildlife will hold a N.E. Region Access and Habitat (A&H) Council meeting on Thursday, Jan. 22, from 10 a.m.-3 p.m. at the La Grande Fire Center's Wallowa Room on Pierce Road next to the La Grande airport.
The purpose of the meeting is to discuss proposed projects submitted from N.E. Region and to review projects funded by A&H during the past year. The meeting is open to the public.

Reasonable accommodations, such as assistive hearing devices, sign language interpreters and materials in large print or audio tape will be provided for persons with disabilities if needed. To request services, call Craig Ely at (541) 963-2138 at least 24 hours prior to the meeting.

OSU announces honor students

Oregon State University has announced the students who have made the scholastic honor roll fall term. A total of 308 students earned straight-A (4.). Another 1,551 earned a B-plus (3.5) or better to make the listing. To be on the honor roll, students must carry at least 12 graded hours of course work.

Local students on the honor roll include Joseph Healy, Heppner, a junior business major-3.5 or better; Scott Johnson and Jason Smythe, Boardman, both junior science majors-4.; Michelle Brown, Irrigon, senior health and human performance major and Robert Brown, Irrigon, freshman science major-3.5 or better.

New mortgage co. started in Heppner

Offices for a new mortgage company, Alliance Mortgage Company, have been established in Heppner, January 1. Staffed by Mike Armato, regional manager and loan officer, and Patti Allstott, loan officer, Alliance Mortgage is located on the second floor of the Lanham Apartment Building, Suite 5, 180 Baltimore Street.
Alliance, which has offices in Washington and Oregon, has opened a new region in eastern Oregon and southeast Washington, and will be establishing additional offices in this area. An office was just opened in Hermiston in October. "The last two years," says Armato, "Alliance has done over $320 million in loans in Oregon and Washington."
Alliance offers government loans, such as FHA and VA, conventional home loans, commercial loans, mortgage and real estate loans. "We offer nearly every loan alternative available,"

Patti Allstott and Mike Armato said Armato, "because we specialize solely in real estate loans. That's all we do." Alliance, says Armato, is able to help with non-traditional and non-urban housing, which are vital in this area.
Armato, 41, has a degree from the University of California in political science and has had 17 years of real estate lending experience. He will be at the Heppner office Tuesdays and at the Hermiston office Mondays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays. He may be reached at 676-5721 or 1-800-676-3556.

Armato and his wife, Kim Cutsforth, who live in Heppner, have two children, Maggie, five, and Joe, three. Kim is an importer of hardwoods from Malaysia.
Allstott, 37, was employed with the Bank of Eastern Oregon for 12-1/2 years, four of those years specializing in mortgages, loans, student loans and investment accounting. She will be at the Heppner office Monday through Friday.
Allstott and her husband, David, who has a construction company, live in Heppner and have two children, Blake, 10, and Aaron, seven.

Lambing school planned in Feb.

The Oregon State University (OSU) Extension Service is currently accepting applications for their 1997 N.E. Oregon Lambing School, according to OSU Extension agents Bill Broderick and Randy Mills. The lambing school is scheduled for Feb. 13-14 at the Krebs Ranch near Cecil and provides participants with a one-day intensive "hands-on" learning experience.
Instructors for the school include Dr. Don Hansen, OSU Extension veterinarian; Dr. Jim Thompson, OSU Extension sheep specialist; Bill Broderick, OSU-Morrow County livestock agent; Randy Mills, OSU-Umatilla County livestock agent, and the Krebs Ranch lambing crew.
Using a large-scale commercial sheep operation as the classroom, lambing school participants learn nutrition, animal health, obstetrics and other management practices that maximize baby lamb survival.

Enrollment is limited to eight participants per day and reservations are accepted on a first-come, first-served basis. The $10 registration fee includes the one day school and a lambing school notebook that contains many useful references. To register for the school, contact Bill Broderick at 676-9642 or 1-800-342-3664, or Randy Mills at 278-5403.
