Working at home new trend

Working at home is one of the major work trends of the 90s. Home worker households are expected to increase 25 percent by the end of the decade. There will be over 55 million home workers, approximately half of them telecommuters working one to two days a week for traditional employers. The remaining home workers will be full or part-time self employed businesses.

"Who's Working at Home and Why?" will be the topic of a two-hour Oregon State University Extension presentation Tuesday, April 15, at the Umatilla County Extension office in Pendleton. The presentation will be repeated Wednesday, April 16, at the Morrow County Extension

Office in Heppner. Topics include: characteristics of successful homeworkers; types of jobs being done at home; utilizing the internet to access resources for home based businesses; and distance learning opportunities.

These free programs will be offered from 7 to 9 pm. Tom Wykes, Extension Energy agent, of Redmond is the instructor. Pre-registration is appreciated in order to prepare student materials. For more information contact: Umatilla County Extension Office, 721 S.E.
